Their Adventures Abroad

D.C. Girls In Europe Four Weeks

By DON GRIERSON

Teen-agers out on a date in Hartberg, Austria, are accompanied by their parents, and in Blackburn, England, "Many of the things we consider relics of the pioneer past are still in daily use."

Two Westmoor High School girls returned from a four-week stay abroad last summer with these and countless other equally diversified observations.

Seniors Kathi McGenity and Pat Brennan were selected on the basis of essays and interviews by the non-profit Experiment in International Living Organization to live with typical families abroad and "see a foreign country through the eyes of its people."

Kathi spent one week with a "working class" British family in Blackburn, then lived three weeks with a middle-class family.

In both names, she said, the teen-age children were "considerably more domestic" than her Daly City contemporaries.

"I found the British teen-agers much more down-to-earth and realistic than those in this country. The general pace of their lives is slower, and they spend more time at home," Kathi said.

"They are open and matter of fact about everything, and in some ways seem more mature."

Otherwise, British teen-agers are similar to Daly City's younger set, sharing the same tastes in clothes and music.

This was not the case in Hartberg, near the Hungarian border, where Pat lived four weeks with a family which included two teen-age children.

Kathi McGenity, left, and Pat Brennan, two Westmoor High School seniors, visited England and Austria last summer as members of the Experiment in International Living delegation. The girls lived with "typical" families in the host countries in order to "view the countries through the eyes of their people." (Post Photo)

"In Hartberg, life is more traditional. Teen-agers are expected to abide by the 'old ways,' and there isn't much of the spirit of rebellion," she said.

Boys and girls do not attend classes together in Austria, and school "is a full-time proposition and is taken more seriously than it is at home," she said.

The teen-age girl of Pat's host family was taking 20 subjects in school and spoke five languages fluently. "Both German and English are mandatory subjects in the Austrian schools, along with religion."

The family, like most Austrian families, was middle class.

"There seem to be no really rich or poor classes in the country," she said.

Teen-agers in Hartberg prefer the traditional folk music and dances of the country, and are "just now becoming aware of the twist."

They are accompanied to all dances and other social functions by their parents, and they marry very young.

Pat and Kathi were each members of separate ten-member groups sent to their areas by the international organization. Many of their fellow travelers were college students.

"It's strange, but the high school students seemed to view the experience more seriously and to get more out of it than the college students," the girls said.

Since their return, Pat and Kathi, both members of the Westmoor International Friendship Club, have been working to raise funds for other students to go abroad under the program.

Their trips were financed by the Experiment in International Living Organization and by contributions from the Daly City Rotary, Lions Club and other civic organizations and individuals.

Former Daly City attorney Paul Hupf "celebrates" his appointment to the North County Municipal Court bench by Gov. Edmund Brown.

D.C. Lawyer Is North's Third Judge

Paul Hupf, city attorney for Daly City since September, 1957, was appointed by outgoing Governor Edmund Brown Monday to the third municipal court seat in the north county.

The long-time Republican had been under consideration for the post since its establishment some seven months ago.

Hupf was a former city councilman and took over the post of city attorney vacated by Frank Blum when Blum was appointed to municipal judge in 1957.

Observers said Governor Brown's action in crossing over party lines and choosing a Republican was a "reward" for the attorney's support of him in the recent gubernatorial election.

Hupf was co-chairman of the San Mateo County Attorneys-for-Brown during this year's election and campaign.

"I am very pleased and grateful the governor appointed me to this post and I'll do my very best in this new capacity," Hupf said.

He was expected to move into his new offices in the north county judicial courthouse, South San Francisco, before the end of this month.

Democratic committee co-chairman Frank Pacelli, a Daly City councilman, spearheaded the move to seat Hupf and earlier conferred with Brown on several political appointments, including Hupf in this area, it was learned.

The newly appointed judge will continue to reside in Daly City with his wife Virginia, and two teen-age daughters.

Hupf received a big boost in his bid for the judgeship early this year when the city council unanimously came out in support of the appointment.

South San Francisco city attorney John Noonan had been considered a strong opponent to Hupf in the race for the seat.

Bold New Law Studied In Daly City

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Daly City councilmen began studies Monday night of a bold new ordinance which will give the city's planning staff powers to accept or reject designs of planned structures within certain areas.

If accepted, Section 14A, would establish a design review combining district comprised of planning staff experts empowered to not only make recommendations on architectural design of planned structures, but also to reject applications.

However, applicants may appeal any decision of the panel within five days either to the Planning Commission of directly to the City Council, according to planner Ed Lawson.

Coupled with establishment of the review board is a proposed resolution calling for a new C-O office commercial district, thus assuring positive control of future land uses surrounding such projects as the Civic Center.

The resolution (No. 165) adopted by the Planning Commission last month, following public hearings, pointed out the intention of the ordinance was to "create, preserve and enhance areas of unusual civic significance requiring special design treatment and consideration of aesthetic and functional relationships to surrounding development."

Once the district is formed, no additional work, including additions, painting, or installation of signs, can be made without the approval of the review panel.

Forms will be available for applicants to submit necessary information regarding applicable design review criteria to be applied to the development, Lawson said.

This information will include site and building plans, drawings and elevations, landscaping plans, exterior material and color samples of the proposed buildings.

There will be no charge for the design review.

Applications which do not include detailed information concerning ultimate design of the structure, but are sufficiently detailed to permit the review pan to arrive at a decision will be accepted on the basis of a "preliminary application," while final approval will be withheld pending submission of (Please See Page 2, Column 2)

Now, Chair Juggling At the City Level

Speculation over who will fill newly appointed Judge Paul Hupf's vacated city attorney position has been "kicked around" for several months.

Mayor Albert Polonsky, a prominent San Francisco attorney, was expected to get the job, according to a well-informed city hall source.

Among those who would likely be considered to fill any vacancies on the council — if Polonsky is appointed — is James Grealish, a local businessman, and Tony Giammona, athletic director at Westmoor High School, according to the same source.

Both Grealish and Giammona have been active in local politics during recent elections.

Board Concerned

Colma School Arson Possibility Probed

Jefferson Union Elementary School District trustees Monday night "stressed the board's concern" over the possibility of arson in the third Colma Intermediae School fire in slightly more than a year.

Damages to a classroom at the school in a fire "of undetermined origin" Saturday afternoon are expected to total at east $25,000.

Two other fires at the school, one of which occurred last July 1 and resulted in $50,000 damage, are still unexplained according to a Daly City Fire Department spokesman.

The three fires have occurred at approximate six-month intervals from the first, which resulted in $9,000 damages, reported Nov. 15, 1965.

A school board official said insurance inspectors are conducting an investigation along with the fire department.

Trustees voted to authorize the district administration to proceed "on an emergency basis" with the repair or replacement of the damaged facilities "without the usual bidding procedure."

Seven Children Are Orphaned

Seven Brisbane children were orphaned this Christmastide when both their parents were killed in a grinding one-car crash on Old Bayshore Road, late Monday.

Leon Durham, 40, and his wife, Betta, 39, were returning home shortly after 4 p.m. when their car went into a spin on the rain-slick road and hurtled into a bulldozer parked some ten yards off the pavement.

The Durhams were pronounced dead on arrival at Peninsula Hospital, where they were taken immediately after the accident.

The couple were long-time residents of Brisbane, residing at 169 Lake Street.

Durham was co-owner of the Hot Corner Bar in San Francisco. His wife worked as a cocktail waitress at Basin Street West, also in San Francisco.

The couple is survived by seven children, ranging in age from 5 to 20 years old, and two grandchildren.

Eldest of the Durham children is Esther Heinzle, 100 East Moltke Avenue, Daly City.

The other children all reside in Brisbane. They are Jeffery, 5; Randy, 8; Paula, 13; Ricky, 16; Larry, 17, and Lonnie, 18.

Reisch Ouster In Brisbane Asked?

A marathon study session, with on-again, off-again secret meetings held behind closed doors, was staged by the Brisbane City Council Monday night.

The sporadic closed-door sessions originally started last Monday during a regular meeting of the council, allegedly to discuss the status of City Atty. Conrad Reisch.

Mayor Edward A. Schwenderlauf would neither confirm, nor deny that the council was studying the possibility of dismissing Reisch as that city's attorney.

Last night's closed door "personnel session" got underway shortly after 7 p.m. at the Brisbane Elementary School. A city employe was posted at the door, apparently to prevet other persons from entering.

The hour-long discussion, attended by Schwenderlauf, Councilmen John L. Bell, Robert W. McLennan, Jess C. Salmon and Dale E. With, ended at 8:05 p.m. and the council began their scheduled study session.

The study session next adjourned to a personnel session at 11:30 p.m., announcing that the council intended to hold yet another closed door meeting at 6 p.m. tonight.

Asked if the council was discussing the possible dismissal of Attorney Reisch, Mayor Schwenderlau said, "He was being discussed but I cannot tell you what the meeting concerned."

The city attorney question cropped up during last week's regular session when Councilman Salmon proposed the city was spending too much money on Atty. Caspar Weinberger in the battle with the Sanitary Land Fill Co. over the garbage dump.

Instead of backing Salmon, other councilmen passed over the suggestion and instead began a lengthly discussion of Reisch.

CONRAD REISCH
. . . Ouster asked?

"We are not about to fire Weinberger," Schwenderlauf declared during last week's meeting and denied Salmon's request for a special executive meeting between Reisch and the council.

Reisch, Brisbane's city attorny since incorporation in November 1961, told The Times, "I am unaware of any such action to dismiss me."

The firm of Reisch and Sherman, in South San Francisco also represents the City of Pacifica as attorney.

Freighters Approve Coast Rate

A new rate structure for Pacifica has been approved by the Interstate Freight Carriers' Association, Bernard Lake of the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce announced this week.

Pacifica Chamber of Commerce representatives Stan Farber and manager Lake, accompanied by Mayor Harland Minshew appeared before the Interstate Freight Carriers' Association in Reno last week presenting Pacifica's case for through freight rates.

Lake said new rates will mean a savings to the merchants of between 30 and 50 per cent of their former costs.

Car Hits, Kills S.S.F. Woman

An elderly South San Francisco woman died at Mary's Help Hospital Monday night several hours after she was struck down by an automobile in the QFI store parking lot on El Camino Real.

Mary E. Shull, 83, 129 Springwood Way, was struck about 7 p.m. by a car driven by Jewel Barbara Welch, 19, a College of San Mateo student who resides at 714 Commercial Way, South San Francisco.

Mrs. Shull, who has been under treatment for a heart condition died at 11:55 p.m.

Police said Miss Welch was driving north in the parking lot at a rate of speed of "no more than five miles per hour" when Mrs. Shull stepped from behind her son's car and into the path of the moving vehicle. She was struck by the right front fender.

Police said the victim was unconscious when they arrived at the accident scene shortly after 7 p.m., but had no visible injuries and her pulse was "very strong."

A light rain was falling when the accident occurred.

Special Meet on Creek

Store's Spokesman Cites Need To Rush S.S.F. Plan

By DON GRIERSON

South San Francisco councilmen called a special "adjourned" meeting for next week after a Macy's Department Store representative expressed dissatisfaction with the city's progress in approving plans for a 30-acre development Monday night.

After discussing plans for relocation of a section of Colma Creek with city officials at the Monday night study session, the department store chain's spokesman, John Egan, said "time is of the essence" with his company and more or less demanded immediate approval of the creek relocation plans.

Egan intimated the company will scrap its plans for constructing the giant service center on El Camino Real and Hickey Boulevard unless the plans are approved prior to December 19.

Apparently irked by City Attorney John Noonan and engineer Louis Gosss' stressing of legal and technical details, the firm's representative said, "I think we have a serious situation here. We would like very much to locate in your fair city, but time is of the essence."

The company has submitted a plan which calls for moving a 1,500-foot section of Colma Creek, an "improved" natural stream that has been on city maps since the 1880s, about 250 feet.

Both the present and proposed routes of the creek are within the 30-acre plot Macy's has obtained option to purchase.

Noonan raised several legal points involved in relocating the creek, including the question of the city's liability in the event of damage to property downstream because of the project.

"My feeling is that we should wait until we know better what we are getting into," Noonan said. In his opinion there is some question about whether the city or the San Mateo County Flood Control District should approve the plans.

The city annexed the area from the county about two years ago. Noonan said if Colma Creek is not a natural stream, then the county flood control district (which is in practice the board of supervisors) has jurisdiction.

City Engineer Goss also withheld approval of the construction plans.

He said the company's plans "are not specific enough," and also objected to the materials and thickness of the proposed lining for the creekbed.

The Macy plan calls for three-inch-thick walls of a commercial synthetic material. Goss requested that the walls be constructed of four-inch-thick concrete slab, and be reinforced with steel.

The Macy spokesman said estimates indicate an additional $20,000 would have to be expended on the project to meet the city engineer's requirements.

Goss said the concrete slab walls would be at least 33 per cent strong than those proposed by Macy's engineers. A Macy engineer said the construction in the firm's plans would, in fact, be stronger than the city engineer's proposed concrete slabs.

Egan stated several times during the meeting that he thought it "absurd that the city insist we gold-plate this section of the creek while the sections adjacent at either end are practically mudholes."

A recent engineering survey indicates the creek in its present condition is of "five-year storm" capacity. The Macy plan would render the 1,500-foot section "30-year storm" strength.

Councilmen Mull Manager Bids

Pacifica city councilmen Monday started screening applications for city manager.

Seeking a replacement for Karl Baldwin, the councilmen will meet again Sunday in an executive session to review applications for the post.

Meanwhile, 25-year-old Asst. City Mgr. Jim Swayne, with the City of Pacifica since last February will ramrod the various continuing projects and maintain the council-manager concept of government in Pacifica.

Swayne, who came from administrative internship in the city of Eureka after schooling at Humboldt State College in Eureka and the Uniersity of California in Riverside, said work on getting a new police facility, a community services building in Westview and other projects must continue.

Baldwin's resignation to accept a federal government administrative post in Viet Nam became effective last week.

Baldwin left for an orientation program in Washington, D.C., on Sunday.

Swayne said 21 applications for Baldwin's vacated post were received by the Wednesday deadline this week, with two others coming in late.

Woman, 40, Found Dead Of Gunshot

George S. Bates, 37, 355 Inverness Drive, Pacifica, Sunday found his wife, Mrs. Golda Bates, 40, dead of an apparently self-inflicted gunshot wound in the head.

Bates, who told police of a family argument on Saturday—the day they had planned an observance of their eleventh wedding anniversary — called police at 11:41 a.m. He and an 8-year-old son had just returned from Lincoln, where they had spent the previous night with Bates' father.

He said there had been an argument Saturday over a dog tracking mud onto the living room rug and he and the youngster had decided to spend the night in Lincoln.

His father, Bates said, had been visiting with them but had gone home earlier that day.

When getting no response to repeated ringing of the doorbell upon his return, Bates forced his way into the locked house and found his wife's body on her bed.

Bates told authorities his wife had suffered depressions in the past.

Christmas Concert

Jeff Choir Makes Plans

Jefferson High School, a cappella and Chamber Choirs will present Christmas concert at 8 p.m. December 9, in the cafeteria building.

A cantata, "The Childhood of Christ," by J. C. Bach will be featured by the chorus, orchestra and soloists. The program will also include carols and novelty numbers.

The vocal music department's choirs have earned superior and excellent ratings in choral festivals for the past two years. Last May, the Chamber Choir gave a command performance at San Francisco State College.

On December 13, Gilbert Crane, Jefferson's instructor of vocal music, will give a lecture-demonstration at San Francisco State College on his teaching techniques.

The a cappella and Chamber choirs will be used for demonstration purposes.

The Chamber Choir is preparing for an audition to perform at the Music Educators National Conference Convention in Las Vegas, Nev.

Admission to the concert will be for adults and 50 cents for students.

Bold, New D.C. Law Is Studied

complete plans, according to the proposal.

If the city planner thinks the final plans do not coincide with the preliminary outline he will reject it until such modifications bring the plan into line with the preliminary application.

Amendment of ordinance 635, establishment of a C-O district, will govern what type of use permits are authorized, installation of signs, and off-street parking.

Considered as "suitable offices" in the C-O district are such businesses as barber shops, professional buildings (doctor, dentist), churches, clubs, restaurants (except drive-ins) and certain dwellings.

The proposed C-O resolution defines a business office as "any office for the conduct of any one of the following uses: advertising agency, collection agency, insurance, photographer, private detective, real estate, or social worker. Similar uses may be added . . . by resolution of the Planning Commission."

'Traditional' Yule Carols at Laguna

Pacifica schoolchildren will celebrate Christmas this year with carols heralding the birth of Christ and an assortment of plays describing the season in other lands, Dist. Supt. Fred Lucas said this week.

The planned programs at all 13 elementary schools in the Laguna Salada District include traditional Christmas carols such as "Oh Come All Ye Faithful," "Silent Night," and "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen."

But in order to comply with a policy memo from the district, other sectarian religious songs such as "Shalom Chaverim" "A La Nanita Nana" and "Angels We Have Heard on High" (French) will be interlaced with the "traditional" Christmas carols.

Stage plays which might be interpreted as "so sectarian or so presented as to cause a child to feel set apart from his fellow students in an embarrassing way" have been discouraged, according to several principals.

Other cities in the county have followed suit in this procedure, which actually came about as a result of a federal government ruling some five years ago regarding separation of church and state.

The majority of teachers and administrators agree with the present Christmas programs and expressed the feeling religion, unless it directly contributes to a child's education (and includes all religions) should be taught in the home and church.

One principal thougth the Christmas programs were "adequate" and felt children should not be "just entertainers, but should understand what they are doing not only regarding the Christian-type of celebration, but also how Christmas is celebrated in other countries."

Fairmont School Principal, Miriam Swett said, "The Christmas programs are up to each individual teacher. If the teacher decides to stage a certain play or sing a carol we do not interfere — that's their decision to make."

The district has never "pressed the issue" of banning certain carols or plays," Principal Swett said.

Tea Stand For Jazz Quintet

The Contemporary Jazz Quintet will play at the Wesley Methodist Church, 1474 Southgate Avenue, Daly City, Christmas tea December 10 at 1 p.m.

The Contemporary Jazz Quintet, under the leadership of Richard Pena, won a music scholarship when he recently graduated from Westmoor High School, Daly City. All but one member of the Quintet attends the College of San Mateo. The piano player, Corny Williams, still attends High School.

Richard is a music major. He and Tom Rutley, the Bass player, are members of the Symphonic Band of the College of San Mateo, as well as the CSM Jazz Band. Charles Hamilton is on the trombone, Dave Prentice on Drums, and versatile Richard plays the flute, alto and tenor saxophone.

Richard was president of the Temple and Wesley Methodist Youth Fellowship in 1965-1966. During this time he attempted to express religious themes in the music of the younger generation Jazz.

Jr. Teens Plan Event

The Telstars Junior Teen Club of the Daly City Recreation Department will go ice skating at the San Francisco Ice Arena, December 9. Buses wil leave Westmoor Park Clubhouse at 6:30 p.m.

Cost to members will be $1; guests $1.50.

D.C., Bruno Sorority Plans Meet

The Daly City-San Bruno Chapter of Delta Phi Upsilon, national honorary sorority for early childhood education, will meet on December 14 at 8 p.m. in the home of chapter president, Mrs. Don McCaskie, 1789 Juniper Avenue, San Bruno. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. Charles Mahnken, San Bruno, and Mrs. Merwin Walden, San Francisco.

There will be an exchange of Christmas ideas for home and school, to be followed by a gift-giving time. Plans will also be discussed for Founders' Day.

Manpower Short, D.C. Street Work Lags

Shortage To Delay Key Jobs

Daly City's street improvement projects have hit a snag. Not because of a lack of money, but rather an acute shortage of manpower, City Engr. Arthur W. Reschke has disclosed.

Necessary funds are available to start at least three of the street improvement projects, but, Reschke said, "a shortage of personnel prevents us from getting plans and specifications prepared on these improvements."

Because of this manpower shortage, widening and realignment of East Market Street, San Pedro Road and San Fernando Way, has been temporarily shelved while the engineering staff concentrates on other priority items, Reschke said.

Estimated total cost of the three projects was some $750,000 and will come from gasoline taxes.

A manpower shortage in the engineering department is only one of the problems facing the fast-growing city.

Extension of Hickey Boulevard through the Chinese Cemetery, bordering Serramonte, is still in the "talk" stage between interested city and cemetery officials.

San Mateo County has offered to purchase a section of the property for some $60,000 from the Chinese Cemetery Association, which would provide a right-of-way through the land for extension of the boulevard.

The Association apparently thought the offer was not high enough and broke off negotiations.

Six months ago the city requested funds for the new General Plan which hopefully will aid in the growth and prosperity of the area, according to Reschke.

Cost of the venture will be about $115,000 — with the Federal Government contributing some $70,000.

The master plan will include future land uses in Daly City, traffic problems and recreational areas.

However, Reschke expressed fears the Federal Government might withhold financial assistance in this program as a result of a recent over-all Federal Aid cutback in certain areas.

Plans for urban beautification, such as tree planting, landscaping at the new civic center and related projects, have likewise been submitted to the government.

If these plans are approved, the government was expected to share in the cost of the $100,000-plus project.

Meanwhile, bids for improvement of Washington Avenue — an estimated $25,000 project — between San Pedro Road and Junipero Serra Boulevard, have gone out to bid, Reschke said.

Construction of the one block section of Washington Avenue was expected to take some three months, according to Reschke.

Another extension program on Southgate Avenue, from Cerro Drive to Junipero Serra Boulevard, was scheduled to start next spring and will cost more than $150,000.

Reschke said costs of the project will be split three ways between the city, county and Suburban Realty, developers of Serramonte.

D.C. Youth Is Rescued From Death

The parents of a 13-year-old Ben Franklin school student, Daly City police and Mary's Help Hospital personnel combined forces last week to save the life of the youth after he tried to commit suicide with sleeping pills.

Shortly after 7 p.m. the boy's parents thought he was "acting funny" and took him to the family doctor for a medical check.

The doctor apparently could find nothing wrong with him and the parents sent the youth home.

When their son's condition grew worse they decided to bring him to the police station for assistance.

At 11 p.m. police were questioning the boy in the hopes of finding out if he was under the influence of narcotics when he fell asleep in the chair.

Almost immediately the phone rang and the boy's mother said a near-empty bottle of sleeping pills was found in their son's room.

Police Sergeant Bob Ingbrigtson and officer Craig Martini took turns walking the groggy youth around the office while an ambulance was summoned.

A medical team at Mary's Help Hospital successfully "pumped" the boy's stomach and administered treatment until he "came around."

Child Hit By Car in S.S.F.

A 6-year-old child struck by a car on Baden Avenue in South San Francisco last Tuesday, was hospitalized with head injuries.

Annette Pulido, daughter of Mrs. Artemissa Long of 805 Baden Street, stepped from between two parked cars in front of her home about 5 p.m., and was struck by a car driven by Joan Brewer, 22 El Campo Drive, South San Francisco.

Entitled "The Dignity of the Human Person," a seminar to be held at Mary's Help Hospital on December 9 and 10, will bring together the three ancient professions of medicine, law and religion, for a discussion of modern problems and social pressures encountered by the physician in everyday practice.

Open to physicians in the San Francisco and North San Mateo County areas, the two-day discussion will be lead by a great faculty of eight experts, many of whom are national leaders in their fields.

Topics to be discussed are "The Patient's Right to Know," "The Ordinary and Extraordinary Means of Preserving Life," "Transplantation of Organs," "Respect for the Unborn Life," and "Personality Disorders."

The guest faculty are Robert J. Barbieri, L.L.B., Attorney at law; Joseph J. Downing, M.D, program chief of the San Mateo Mental Services Division and Associate Clinical Professor of Psychiatry and Preventive Medicine at the Stanford School of Medicine; J. Englebert Dunphy, M.D. professor and chairman of the Department of Surgery, University of California School of Medicine and past president of the American College of Surgeons; Donald C. Greaves, M.D., professor and head of the department of psychiatry, University of Kansas School of Medicine; Emile F. Holman, M.D., professor emeritus of the Department of Surgery, Stanford University School of Medicine; Rev. John J. Lynch, S.J., professor of Moral Theology, Weston College, Weston, Mass.; Robert J. Luby, M.D., associate clinical professor, Department OB-GYN, Creighton University School of Medicine, Omaha, Neb.; Leo J. O'Brien, L.L.M. dean of the School of Law, Gonzaga University, Spokane, Wash.

Members of the medical-dental staff of the hospital will act as moderators for this professional investigation and George L. Torassa Jr., M.D., president of the medical-dental staff, will be program chairman. His Excellency, Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken, will greet the seminar.

The program is a continuing education activity of the doctors at Mary's Help and is the first of its kind to be sponsored at the local hospital level.

$2,700,000 Slated In Airport Work

Approval of $2,700,000 in airline tenant improvements at San Francisco International Airport was voted today by the City's Public Utilities Commission.

They include a $2,500,000 expansion of United Air Lines' giant Maintenance Base, and a $200,000 structure to house American Airlines' air cargo office requirements. The latter is a major step in the start of a $4,500,000 interim air cargo facility on Plot 9. Bids are scheduled to be called early in January for construction of a 60,000 square foot air cargo building to cost an estimated $1,000,000 with completion programmed for next summer.

James K. Carr, general manager of Public Utilities, in recommending the commission action, said the United project is a phase of the $7,500,000 expansion program announced by that airline a few weeks ago.

"This program," Carr said, "will provide United with full maintenance facilities for stretched out model of the DC-8 which is scheduled to inaugurate San Francisco-to-Honolulu service next February. Other projects in the over-all program still are in planning stages."

The UAL work includes expansion of Hangar 10 by some 75,000 square feet on two floors, and adding approximately 18,500 square feet to Hangar 11, plus an additional 11,000 square feet of mezzanine office space.

Airport General Manager, George F. Hansen, said the American Airlines project will be a two-story steel frame office building with 5,760 square feet on each floor.

Fire Burns Car, Cycle And Garage

A gasoline-fed fire in the Pacifica home or Oren Hargraves completely destroyed a garage, motorcycle and sports car last week.

Hargraves, a Pacifica police officer, told investigators the fire started when his motorcycle fell over, splashing gasoline onto the side of a water heater in the garage.

His efforts to extinguish the fire failed, Hargraves called the fire department.

The garage was a "mass of flames" when fire equipment arrived at the scene, a spokesman said.

Damage was estimated to be in excess of $3,000.

D.C. Market Yields $400

Daly City police revealed last week that some $400 was stolen from a safe and a cash register at Lucca's Market on Mission Street.

The burglar entered the store through a roof air vent and "peeled" the safe in the market's office.

A cash register in the store's meat section also was forced oppen and its contents taken.

Hit By Car, Mother Son, Are Injured

A Daly City mother and her 4-year-old son were injured when a car hit them while crossing School Street Sunday.

Police said the car, driven by Olive Marie Miller, 52, 1855 Lorraine Drive, Colma, hit Mrs. Jenne Vincent and her son Lew, of 144 Bruno Avenue, while they were attempting to cross the street.

The victims were treated by their family physician.

Removal Of Ship Is OK'd

Pacifica planning commissioners approved the city council's granting of a permit to the National Metal and Steel Corp. for removal of the USS Johnson from the beach at Mori's Point Monday night.

The planning commission placed no additional conditions upon the emergency permit granted two weeks ago by the city council, but recommended approval subject to conditions regarding sanitary facilities for workmen specified by the health department.

City Engr. Ken Thompson said, "The conditions as set forth in the agreement with the city meet requirements of the engineering division."

COMMENT

Meeting New Air Transport Era

The extreme urgency of preparing for a new era in air transport, both by short-range measures to meet the deficiencies of San Francisco International Airport and long-range measures for airport development on a regional basis, needs to be emphasized.

Huge new passenger and freight jets will place heavy new demands on both runway and terminal facilities within two years and giant, supersonic jets are less than seven years away. New short-haul planes are already rapidly increasing service and helicopter commuter service is already in being. Still other types of new air transport are being readied to meet the problems of getting to and from airports, and for inter-airport transfer.

THESE advances, together with the great speed of the planes involved, can radically change the main lanes of air traffic. Competition will no longer be limited to localized areas and any area that lags behind in the race to prepare may find itself relegated to secondary importance as an air terminal. The competition will no longer be between airports within a short distance radius. Here, for example, it will be between the airport complexes of Southern California and the Pacific Northwest, if we fail to supply a similar, adequate complex.

This will be more than a matter of second rate service and convenience for local passengers and shippers —it will also have a forcible economic impact.

At this very moment San Mateo County's stake in airport adequacy, to use a single example, represents more than 22,000 jobs, an annual payroll of $165,000,000, large primary and secondary tax returns, and a vast array of business that is increasingly more dependent on, and more closely linked, with access to air traffic.

WITH development of a regional airport complex the stakes of other bay counties may be even more. San Francisco, Oakland and San Jose already possess airports that will be able to augment existing values as a part of a complex but could become isolated on a basis of independent operation. This is why rapid movement toward the creation of a regional airport district is both urgent and imperative.

Meanwhile, it is pressingly urgent to be ready for the aircraft and air traffic advances that are only two years away. In the case of San Francisco International Airport the San Mateo County supervisors have been alert to offer their help through airport district or regional means and this offer shows that San Mateo County is willing and ready to meet the coming need on a mutual basis. This, in itself, is a tremendous advance and augurs well for success in filling the greater regional need.

It is to be hoped that the other bay counties will be as quick to recognize the coming air traffic changes that are already so plainly evident.

Bruno Mountain 'Explored'

By LAURA SARUBBI
Jefferson High

Two Jefferson High teachers, Reno Taini and Mike Smith, recently led three periods of Jeff biology classes into the mass wilderness of the San Bruno mountains. They were organized into teams that mapped the area they studied, surveyed samples of each plant in the area, sampled soils, and observed animals and animal signs.

One such team brought back lizards, snakes, salamanders, slugs, spiders, fox droppings, and hawk bones, and they still are alive in room 200 at Jefferson.

The teams mimeographed their information and now all students have a complete study concerning the interrelationships of plant and animal life in the San Bruno mountains.

The study area, although very valuable and deeply enjoyed by the students and instructors in their work, may be doomed to destruction.

Development of housing tracts are being planned and the natural area may be lost.

Robin Montez was one of Jefferson High students who made San Bruno Mountain "exploration" with biology classes.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

The Post welcomes letters from readers as valid public comment and opinion. They should be newsworthy. The editors reserve the right to cut or otherwise edit letters supporting or attacking political candidates. Carbon copies, and letters addressed to others will not generally be used. When many letters on the same subject are received, the editors will choose the best. While good writing and acceptable grammar are desired, more attention will be given to lively style and provocative thought. Rejection implies no lack of merit and the writer is encouraged to try again. All letters must be signed.

Editor, The Post:

The performance at Monday's special meeting of the Jefferson Elementary School Board was one more example why the board has trouble. The answers they give indicate they have not even listened to the questions.

As usual, they adjourn the meeting as soon as they have said what they want you to hear, and leave without giving people an opportunity to speak. Insistent questioners are met with deaf ears or are told they are out of order.

Yuletide Season And . . . Memories

Frank LaPierre

SEASONAL REMINISCING: You could have knocked my dad over with a bottle the day I came home and told the family I was going to be one of the Wise Men in the school Christmas play.

"Miscasting at its best," was all he said.

But he was out front that night in the old musty-smelling school auditorium. My smiling mom glancing smugly at the other moms, whose kids were mere stablehands on the stage, while HER son was one of the Wise Men. Anyone would have thought Caruso was coming to that school the way those parents of yesteryear carried on.

THE lights dimmed and Old Miss Ferris had to climb up on a ladder to change the bulb in "The Star" over the manger. The parents waited with the patience of their years. They'd been through this, or some similar stage goof, for what seemed to them slightly less than a century.

Harry Zarugean was Joseph this year and he tripped, lost both his balance and hat. The audience remained politely hushed, waiting for Harry to deliver his lines. What they heard louder than Harry's mumbled words were those of Old Miss Ferris stage whispering behind the curtains.

After the Manger Scene, the kids would all gather back on stage and sing carols, only to be drowned out by the parents booming out "Oh Come All Ye Faithful."

WE didn't realize how far removed from today's school Christmas celebrations that was until we had the occasion to visit several Pacifica and Daly City schools the other day.

Where was all the happy bustle that comes with the Christmas season? we asked a principal. Are all the kids rehearsing their parts like we used to do?

No, we were informed, that kind of stuff is "old hat." You see religion should be left to parents and the church, not in the schools unless it's a STUDY of religion, we were told by a very correct and prim principal. "After all, children aren't entertainers," she scolded.

That's right, we agreed, looking back over all those happy years, we sure weren't entertainers. We were stupid kids that were exicited about playing a role — celebrating Jesus' birthday, the same way we celebrated Washington's birthday, or even Thanksgiving.

THE thought of Christmas sent the old adrenaline surging through our young veins almost like fireworks did down at the park on the Fourth of July. Sure, we knew we weren't entertainers, and if any kid was "embarrassed" by what he was doing, I never knew about it and the way Old Miss Ferris ran around for a month before Christmas she never knew it. And I'll bet evenmoney the principal never knew it.

Nowadays, school children don't "celebrate" anything as far as we could see during our tour. They "mark" the event of Christmas, same as you would "mark" the passing of a person or something you were told to "mark" as a result of it having some historical or cultural significance.

There are some who think today's Christmas celebrations are better — educational-wise — than those of old.

Let's not fool ourselves into thinking children aren't "entertainers" and school Christmas plays are passe.

AGREED that us kids would miff a few lines and sing offkey and forget part of our costumes (our mothers made) at home. Sure, Dad would slump in the hardwood seat everytime our youthful voice would crack while yelling out, "Hark, Mary." And without a doubt mothers would scan those costumes made by other parents, in what could be called a community effort to NOT let Christmas go by without EVERYONE getting together.

Christmas, 1966, can't compare with those Christmas plays back when I as a child.

There'll Always Be a Christmas

Samuel Chandler

"There'll always be Christmas . . . as long as a tree grows in a hilltop . . . as long as the sea breaks into foam on a white pebbled beach, as long as there's laughter and beautiful speech."

There'll always be Christmas as long as popular magazines decorate it with their December issues. Ah, such color, such beautiful speech, such photography. All other issues are drab compared with them.

For the editors of Ideals, Christmas has musical, magical sounds: "those of the postman bearing a heavy burden of Christmas cards with magic postmarks; of fresh young voices singing old familiar words; of hectic, frantic holiday shopping; of children whispering as they lie wide-eyed in the dark of Christmas Eve."

The Christmas Ideals is a beautiful package of rhymes and pictures that proves that Christmas never migrated to the city.

Seventeen presents an article by a psychiatrist who explores your Christmas moods. He says that the power of Christmas, although it comes "whizzing in with a wonderful, terrible magic," is its ability to make everyone join the human race — not as a teen-ager, a girl, a boy, an adult, "but simply as a living, breathing member of the group known as homo sapiens."

Better Homes and Gardens presents an issue full of Christmas ideas. The foods and equipment section has recipes for fruit cake and plum pudding; for yuletide pies, holiday salads, and holiday beverages. The section on Christmas crafts tells how to make everything from creatures formed from paper bags to the wonders that come from a modern sewing machine.

House Beautiful presents "12 wonderful Christmas trees" and tells how to trim them. The details for each tree have been formulated in an eighteenth century manor home — Cheekwood in the Tennessee Botanical Gardens and Fine Arts Center. The philosophy behind the decorations on the various trees comes from 12 different lands.

The December issue of Good Housekeeping is advertised as the biggest and best all-Christmas issue anywhere.

Among other things it contains, not one, but two holiday cookbooks. One of these suggest a Christmas morning breakfast round the tree. Along with the usual cocoa or coffee and oranges, the menu calls for bacon in buns with tomatoes, cheese, or orange marmalade as tuck ins.

House and Garden for December is designed to show "how to fill your home with Christmas enchantment." It presents "magical" ideas for rooms, parties, presents, and trees.

McCall's Christmas issue contains a letter to children from Cardinal Cushing, articles on things to give, make, wear, read, share, remember and cherish.

McCall's contains one of the strangest articles in print; "The Games People Play at Christmas," by Dr. Eric Berne (who else). Here we, the American people, are pictured as a group who chuck affection, friendship and appreciation for games of ulterior motives.

There's the Christmas card game, for example, and the gift game which requires the players to memorize the correct words. "Splendid," this is meant to say, "Gee, you're wonderful."

In a like manner, certain words must never pass the player's lips during Christmas: "bum rap," "buzz off," "They let me down."

To redeem itself, it would seem, for publishing Dr. Berne's distracting article McCall's gives us Clare Booth Luce full of Christmas spirit in an article entitled "Christmas in the White House." It is informative, non-political and free of Miss Luce's biting quips, even towards the Franklin D. Roosevelt's whose Christmas she found the most Christmasy.

Big Hog Blocks Freeway

A big old boar planted his feet on the new stretch of Junipero Serra Freeway near Colma Monday afternoon and wouldn't budge for well over an hour yesterday.

Highway patrolmen and Broadmoor and Colma police officers — six lawmen in all — attempted to herd the 500 to 600-pound hog to the side of the freeway.

Pulling efforts failed and even Colma Chief Al Lagomarsino's roping efforts were in vain. The hog broke away and continued amid heavy traffic.

Broadmoor Police Officer Charles Fleischer first got word of the animal shortly after 1 p.m. A passing motorist flagged him down to say there was a hog loose in the northbound lane of the freeway.

Broadmoor Chief Ray Savage theorized the animal might have fallen from a truck. A veterinarian for the San Mateo County Humane Society, which has taken possession of the hog, confirmed "It is possible, the age of the hog has not been determined.

But the veterinarian noted, "He's been around a long time."

The Marquee

The 'In' Craze

Barbara Bladen

Remember when French accents were the thing? Everyone swoned over Charles Boyer, cooed over Yves Montand, and clucked over Louis Jourdan.

The latest craze is Cockney. I gave you Rex Harrison, Laurence Olivier, and Leslie Howard: I'll take Michael Caine. 3

Lord knows he ain't pretty. And he talks funny. Who'd have thought I'd have fallen for a man who calls girls "birds." But there it is. I think he's sexy.

The star of "Ipcress File," "Alfie," "The Wrong Box," "Gambit," and "Funeral in Berlin," flew up from Acapulco and we dined together at Ernie's Bacchus Cellar over candlelight, good wine, and a lot of giggling.

During a few of the serious moments we talked about rumors of his being nominated for an Oscar for "Alfie."

"Ah'd taike it, shoor. Whay not. If I deserved it, it would mean a lot. Ahter ahl, better actors thayn me have had it, layke Spencer Tracy. So ah'd taike it if they owfered it. Shoor ay woold."

So much for the accent imitation. You better believe he talks just like that.

BORN THREE BLOCKS AWAY in London from where Charlie Chaplin comes from, Caine, whose real name is Maurice Micklewhite, acted on the legitimate stage for ten years before going into films. He'd had every kind of job to make a living until he got the big break.

His accent isn't going to hold him back from getting star roles. It wasn't detected in either "Zulu" or "Wrong Box" and he's just completed "Hurry Sundown" for Otto Preminger for which he learned to speak with a Southern accent.

"I'm a complete professional," the curly, sandy-haired British explained. And when he's talking to you, he lowers his eyelids and smiles a little half laugh that so unglues one, what he's saying goes in one ear and out the other.

People think the dialogue in "Alfie" was made up by Caine. Ironically, that's the one picture he did word-for-word from the written script. He wrote almost all of "Ipcress File," his first time 'round as secret agent Harry Palmer. In "Funeral in Berlin," he's Harry Palmer again and under contract for at least three more Len Deighton scripts. The next is "Billion-Dollar Brain."

He explained the success of the character Harry Palmer as "riding three winners, the spy format, the English fad, and the cool personality."

"I'm a product of my own time without even doing anything about it. And I don't believe in the concept of villain or hero. They are manmade and as a man I can change it. It's a sort of cop-out, really, an excuse to do bad or good things. If you just play yourself, you can take the full blame for what you do."

Not intent on making a fool of himself, he takes the jobs as they come and does his professional best. But he won't take a chance on comedy.

"I'm an actor who can do comedy but I'm neither a comedian nor a clown. I asked Sidney Poitier to play Iago against his Othello and he said he'd do it if he could get Vanessa Redgrave to play Desdemona."

☆ ☆ ☆

AN ADMITTED MOVIE BUFF, he tries to see as many as possible. He claims to have volunteered for the infantry based on his admiration of "The Sands of Iwo Jima."

I queried why, when he answers the telephone in "Funeral in Berlin," he first puts on his dark-rimmed glasses. He seemed quite pleased that I had noticed.

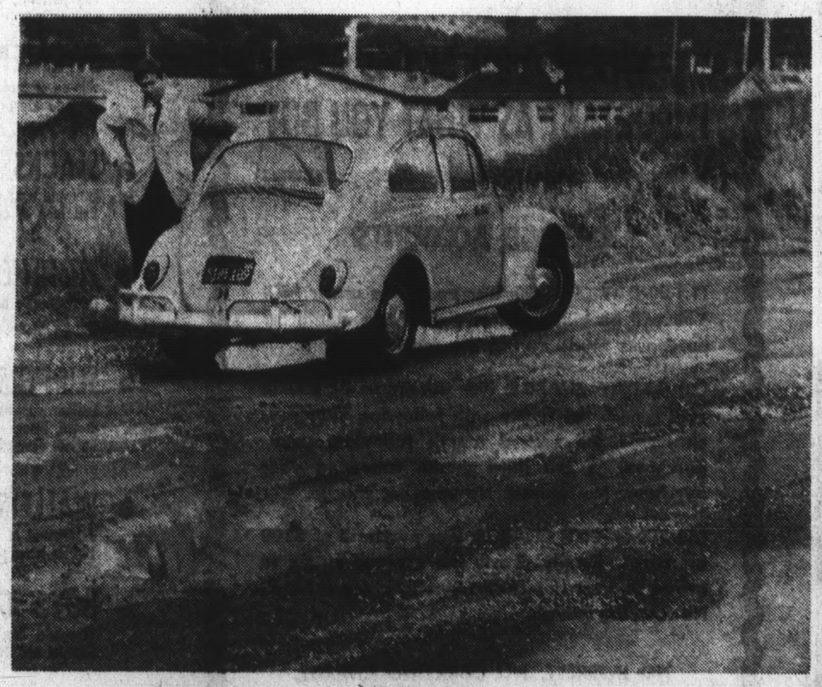
"That was my own bit. I figured that spies usually are given messages to call someone else on the phone and since they can't write anything down on paper, they'd have to memorize the number and immediately redial the number. With glasses on, he can see the dial numbers."

It's all so easy when you're clever.

"I've been accused of riding on the success of James Bond but it's not exactly going with the commercial bit to play an agent with glasses and the abortion scene in 'Alfie' isn't exactly Mary Poppins. I've never done anything for money, not even made a movie just for the money. In 'Hurry Sundown' I play an anti-Negro Southerner which won't endear me to teen-agers."

As for taking a small role in "Wrong Box" with such a big-name co-star as Peter Sellars, he passed it off lightly with "some people are paid to steal a movie, some are paid to carry a movie."

James Bond may be peachy-keen but Harry Palmer is peachy cool. He's definitely "for the birds."



WHEN PACIFICA'S now-famous ship, the USS Johnson, is salvaged, this stretch of Mori's Point Road will be used for access to the job. The city owns two-thirds of the road, and Mori's Point Corp. the remainder. In the permit the city has issued for use of the road is a stipulation that it be returned to "the same condition it was in when the use began." Perhaps the salvage company could use hand grenades and mortars to reproduce the potholes and craters which now make the road almost impassable. (Post Photo)

Better Business

Holiday Shoppers Forgetting Budget

Lorene Beasley

The pressure of today's advertising media causes many holiday shoppers to forget the gift-budget they so painstakingly worked out.

As a result, their purchases are often useless and expensive gifts.

Last-minute shopping can also play havoc with the family budget.

Husbands are notorious last-minute shoppers and are the most likely victims of the biggest of Christmas rackets, the "perfume racketeer" who conducts a multimillion-dollar business in the United States.

OPERATORS package their imitation perfumes in containers copied from those used by the world's foremost perfume producers. Because detection of carefully counterfeited packages is nearly impossible except by experts, the racket persists year after year, allowing racketeers to reap fantastic profits at the expense of both consumer and legitimate manufacturers, foreign and domestic.

Some promoters follow an elaborate scheme which involves placing an advertisement in a high-fashion magazine offering French perfume at their regular price of $18 to $25 an ounce. Salesmen use reprints of the advertisement to substantiate their claims that the perfume that they are selling for $3 to $5 an ounce is a real bargain.

Many perfume racketers label such deceptive phrases as "Orginated in Paris," "Created in France," "Exclusive French Formula," on packages manufactured in the United States.

ONE of the most recent gimmicks used is the phoney code system. This device is used in selling perfume through the mails. Generally the advertisement will offer internationally known perfumes with the following code to indicate which perfume to order: A-Arpege, WS-White Shoulders, C-Chanel, MS-My Sin, etc. Once the perfume is received, the only refrence to the well-known brand ordered is the code initial.

To avoid such pitfalls, shoppers should remember that no one gives something for nothing and that the customer gets what he pays for. The best course of action for the shopper is to patronize legitimate local merchants who have reputations to maintain in the community.

Mother Talked Out of Taking Four Lives

Suicide Bureau Responds

By FRANK LaPIERRE

The Daly City wife of a Navy enlisted man serving somewhere in Viet Nam turned on the gas jets in her kitchen stove early Thursday and sat down to die with her three sleeping children.

But the young mother wasn't sure she was "doing the right thing," and decided to call the Suicide Prevention Bureau in San Francisco.

With gas hissing in the background, Lois Herndon told the man on duty at the bureau "things are becoming increasingly difficult for me," but would not disclose her address.

Suicide Prevention expert "Bill" put two months of intensive training into effect and calmly began talking with the distraught mother whose three young sons lay quietly sleeping in an adjoining bedroom of the home.

Was she right in trying to "end it all?" she asked.

"That's your decision to make—we wouldn't want to make that decision for you," "Bill" explained.

During the lengthly conversation, "Bill" was successful in getting Mrs. Herndon's address—51 Tinian Road—and alerted Daly City police.

Officer James Van Pelt arrived at the home shortly after, broke in and turned off the gas.

The family was taken to Mary's Help Hospital for emergency treatment.

Mrs. Herndon's children, ranging in age from two to eight years old, were temporarily placed at the County Receiving Home while she was transferred to County General Hospital.

The Navy announced they are making a "concerted effort" to contact Mrs. Herndon's husband, a chief petty officer aboard the ammunition carrier, USS Mattaponi, somewhere off Viet Nam.

The distressed mother did not say how long her husband had been away, but indicated she missed him very much.

When the Navy locates CPO Thurston Herndon, it is likely they will grant him a leave to be with his family, a Navy spokesman said.

$160 TAKEN

Tom W. Lockwood told police Sunday his Higate Avenue home had been burglarized and some $160 stolen. Police said entry to the home was made through a rear basement window.

S.S.F. Driver Is Injured

Steven Crayne, 23-year-old teamster of 824 Alta Loma Drive, South San Francisco, and Manuel Gonzales, 39, a San Francisco contractor, were taken to Peninsula Hospital at 2:15 a.m. today from a traffic crash on Bayshore Freeway in Millbrae.

Highway patrolmen said Crayne's sedan and a pickup truck driven by Gonzales collided when Gonzales changed lanes as Crayne was attempting to pass. The truck came to rest on its right side in roadside shrubbery and the car crashed into the center fence.

2 Stricken By Exhaust Fumes

Dizzy and sick from breathing exhaust fumes settled in a hold of the beached USS Johnson in Pacifica, two husky members of a task force removing oil from the ship helped each other out to fresh air and safety last week.

John Pino, 39, 250 Moana, Pacifica, and Tyree Lee, 42, 1320 South Tanino, Compton, were stricken when they went below to check a pump that had stopped operating.

"They were pretty lucky to get in or out of the hold," a Pacifica Fire Department spokesman said.

Thousands of gallons of oil is being pumped from the ship on the salvage operations.

An emergency crew of Pacifica firemen gave the pair oxygen until an ambulance arrived, and guided the wobby men down a ladder from the ship to the beach.

Pino and Lee were taken to Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City but were released after a short time, a spokesman at the hospital said.

The retired destroyer escort has been Pacifica's most celebrated attraction in years, since it came ashore uninvited in October after breaking loose from a tow ship en route to a southland salvage yard.

It has become a curious sight for tourists, a target of teen-age markings, a battleground for a short-lived fight over salvage rights and a thorn in the side of the City of Pacifica, which has had to police the area, and monitor their interests in getting the craft out of its jurisdiction.

A fire department official disclosed that Fire Chief Edwin Greer had ordered the hold sealed until adequate exhaust fans could be installed for the remainder of the salvage period.

Once the oil has been removed, the firemen said, the holds must be steamed cleaned to make sure all residue is gone.

Inspectors, he pointed out, are checking periodically for the presence of explosive gasses.

TV STOLEN

John Maddox of 220 Kavanaugh, Pacifica, has reported the theft of a $185 portable television set from his home.

Chicken Is Overcooked

Pacifica firemen got the bird last week after responding to a house fire at 224 Avalon Drive.

Actually, the "bird" was a charred chicken nesting in a pot atop an automatic electric store in the home of George Read.

According to a fire department spokesman, smoke was seen pouring from the house shortly afternoon by a neighbor.

Peering through a rear kitchen window, firemen saw black smoke mushrooming up from the stove and decided to force their way into the house.

Inside the blackened cooking pot was a charred chicken, which owner Read had left to stew while he was at work.

Correction On Identity

The driver of a car which skidded off a Daly City street earlier this week and smashed into a home on Westmoor Avenue was identified as Kathy Rodriguez.

In Tuesday's edition of The Times the driver of the car was incorrectly identified as Carol West, a passenger in the Miss Rodriguez' vehicle.

Jeff Indians Trounce Burlingame In Opener

Kirby Scores 30 Points

With big John Kirby scoring 27 points and hitting the backboards with glee, Jefferson High School began its cage season on a winning note last Friday with a 65-60 win over Burlingame.

The Indians, who were operating without the services of guard Willie Redmond who has been declared ineligible for the rest of the first semester, edged out in front of the Panthers on a field goal by Mike Furtch and a bucket by Kirby with less than a minute to play.

Burlingame kept abreast of its rival but missed ten of its 18 free throws and shot only 27 per cent from the floor.

Jefferson made good on 22 of 45 field goal attempts and on 21 of 26 free throws for one of its finest first-game efforts in years.

Coach Mike Orlich, veteran Jeff Cage mentor, commented after the fray that, "with Willie Redmond eligible we can win the North Peninsula League title."

Poly Downs Westmoor In Rams' Tilt

Westmoor High School's basketball Rams fell to a powerful Polytechnic High team, 62-35, in their opening practice game of the current season last week.

Poly led the Rams by a heavy margin throughout most of the game, and the score stood at 32-10 at half time.

The Rams took most of the first quarter to rack up a score, acquiring their first tally when Dennis Rocaforte made two points from inside the key on a jump shot.

The first quarter ended with the Parrots leading the Rams by a comfortable 14 points.

Polytechnic had the twin advantages of superior height and three practice games already completed before meeting Westmoor. Two of their first team men, at six foot five, towered over the Rams' players.

Despite the score, Ram Coach Tony Giammona said he was "not too disappointed" in his team's efforts.

"Poly had great height, and their defensive showing was just too much for our boys, who were playing their first game of the season," the coach said.

Giammona noted "there is not one team in the North Peninsula League as tall as the Parrots," and said he will depend upon speed.

Cap Cagers Top Fremont

Capuchino High School's basketball team opened the new season on a happy note last Friday with a 74-66 victory over Fremont of Sunnyvale.

Sal DeLuca led the Mustangs with 19 points, while Jim Kauffman and Roger Carmine had 10 and 11 respectively. The Mustangs were to meet Poly of San Francisco in their next contest Tuesday at home.

Bowling Bits

Westlake Bowl

Lory Adler missed by only one pin receiving the WIBC "100 pins over average award" as she rolled a 570 series in the Ladies' Invitational League Tuesday evening. Lory had games of 207-176 and 187. Another high roller was Angie Betrezoff with 201 game and 545 series.

Bowling in the Friday Mixed Fours, Roger Noll shot a 208 first game, followed with a 235 and finished with 205 for a big 648 series. In the same league, Ernie Loconsolo hit a 608 series on games of 214-203 and 191. Leading lady was Doris Arnott with a big 221 game and 557 series.

Hank Rosenbrand was an early leader in the first qualifying round in the annual Examiner Benefit Singles as he posted a 719 series including handicap.

Bob Grout, who bowled a 299 game three years ago as a junior, last Friday night rolled the second sanctioned 300 game in Westlake history and an all-time high series of 773 as he led the 8 5 Scratch League.

Starting with 225, Bob hit the pocket consistently and in the second game carried all twelve hits for a perfect game. He kept the momentum and rolled a 248 third game for 773, the highest series in Westlake history.

Bob's teammates, led by Jim Leatherberry with 241, joined with him to shoot 1,123 in the second game, another all-time high for Westlake. Their J. L. Enterprises team posted a 3,067 total series.

Alice Scanlon and Bill Greer were high for the week in the Sunday evening Westlake Wedlocks League, Alice with a 188—499 and Bill with a 213 game and 589 series.

Red Jensen bowled three perfect games as he led the 850 American Scratch League with 188-215 and 191 for a 594 series.

Leading lady in the Tuesday Morning Rebels was Carol Barnes with 188—534. Others over the 500 mark were Peg Miller with 193—520 and Doris Arnott with 177—505.

The Country Club Handicap League continues to produce the top scores on Tuesday nights. Last week Rich Lembi led with a 630 series on games of 219-232 and 170 followed by Chuck Permele with 620 on games of 172-247 and 201.

Rich Conciatore found the pocket consistently in the Westmoor Handicap as he started with 180, shot a 199 second game and a 243 final effort for a 622 total.

Westlake Bowl will celebrate its Eighth Birthday next Saturday with dancing, midnight buffet, etc. All are invited.

Betty Levesque proved that sponsors can be winners as she led the French Brothers Invitational League Tuesday morning with a 525 series. High game and second high series honors went to Betty Altamarino with 202 and 518 while Midge Burns took third place with 174 and 513. Bobby Holmes converted the 2-7-10 split while Irene Balsham picked up the 3-10.

It looks like most Westlakers will spend New Year's Eve at the Bowl taking advantage of the $15 "Fun Package" which includes steak dinner, drinks, dancing, bowling, billiards, etc., plus coffee and sandwiches at 3:00 a.m. Westlake Bowl employes have tickets.

A big 245 game and 557 series by Ed Worthington topped the 835 Scratch League for the week.

Leading the Ladies 850 Scratch League for the week was Lois Shaff with a 602 series.

Playboys Still Lead League

The Daly City Playboys crushed the Warriors 40-16 last week to hold first place by a one-game margin over Mac's Men in the Daly City Recreation Department's Adult Hunch Basketball League.

Mac's "men squeezed by the Wildcats, 40-33, and set the stage for their crucial game with the Playboys next week. Dave Williams led the Mac's with 16, followed by Chuck Pansom with 12. Doug Canyon with 12, led the losers.

Tom Barner led the Blues with a 41-36 victory over the Half Pints. Barner tanked 24 points while teammates Don Kelley and Tom Reese put in the remaining 17 points.

Terra Nova High School basketball players will have an opportunity for some rare vengeance against faculty members Saturday night with the annual faculty-varsity basketball game.

The faculty has won four of the five annual tilts, but varsity coach Don Delbon, who will be playing for the faculty team, said at this point, "it looks like the varsity."

Among the faculty members challenging the younger set will be Roger Miller, Mike Cassity, John Bentley, Dennis Lanterman, Rick Mancillas, Bob Curley and Coach Delbon.

The game begins at 8 p.m. in the Terra Nova Gym.

El Camino Loses Opener

San Mateo High School's basketball team, paced by the scoring and rebounding of Jim Mathwig, scored a 71-59 victory over El Camino last Friday in the season's first game for both teams.

Anniversary

Westlake Bowl will celebrate its eighth anniversary Saturday night with a party featuring special match games, dancing and midnight buffet, owner Johnny Swanson said.

With 52 lanes, Westlake is now the largest bowling facility in Northern California, Swanson said, and has been expanded during the years to include such added attractions as a child care center and a 12-table billiard room.

Warriors Lose To S.F.'s Mission

Defending North Peninsula League basketball champion South San Francisco High School began its season last night with a 53-50 loss to Mission of San Francisco.

The Warriors of Bill Purcell, who lost much of their outstanding personnel through graduation, got 16 points from guard Larry Asterlind but it wasn't enough.

Tuesday afternoon the Warriors were to play Aragon at Aragon, and a home game with Alameda is scheduled Friday afternoon.

Hofbrau And Saints Lead Slow Pitch

Action resumed last week in the Daly City Recreation Department's Adult Slow Pitch Softball League as the Starlite Hofbrau and the Saints each collected their second win in a row to move to the top of the pack.

The Hofbrau took a 6-3 contest from the Rebels behind the sturdy bat and defensive play of Ray Ming and Ed Booth.

Tabarez and Bosberry and Company led the Saints to a 4-3 thriller over the Odd Fellows.

Other action saw Mac's Men bounce back from a first round defeat to edge Sill's Club 5-4

Rumor 'n' Stats

Le Pacini

A rumor around San Francisco's Embarcadero has it that one Hollywood Pete Dorskoff is heir apparent to Harry Bridges' throne, and if the dream were to materialize it would indeed be ironic that Dorskoff would be returning to the scene of his greatest cinematic triumph.

In his younger days, Pete, a multi-talented individual who also served as one of Nikita Khrushchev's interpreters when the Russian boss toured San Francisco, chose the higher revenue branch of athletics known as stunting over the safer and more gloriful athletic fields.

WHEN working as a general stand-in with the long-running San Francisco located TV show called "China Smith," Pete (known in the industry as Pete Dorsey) was subbing for an inscrutable Chinese waterfront evil-doer whom star Dan Duryea was to punch in the nose, knocking him off pier 45.

"It was the greatest backward dive I ever did," says Pete, "so good that director Leslie Goodwins printed it on the first take. So there I am in the water with bloody legs because I had hit something on the way down, and something happened to my 'rescue' boat and I'm there so long I'm battling barnacles, and Duryea's sipping a highball in a canvas chair and everybody's yelling, Beautiful take, Dan Baby."

Dorsey at one time was the only stunt flyer in Hollywood who could match (or was crazy enough to try) the heroics of Paul Mantz, who could fly and maneuver World War I monoplanes lower upside doen than anybody else stunting. Dorskoff did so many low-flying upside down jobs that the birds down South thought he had legs growing out of his head.

Mantz, incidentally, was killed last year while performing just such a stunt for the Jimmy Stewart Picture, "Flight of the Phoenix." An event which may offer a hint as to why Dorskoff is becoming more intellectually inclined.

The job Pete's perhaps proudest of, though, was his stand-in work for former Olympic star Buster Crabb when Crabb was doing all those serials in the bright blonde hair.

★ ★ ★

"BUSTER was a great swimmer, don't get me wrong. But what he'd do, he'd pose at the water's edge and when the cameras rolled I'd be the guy hitting the water. So there I'd be, shot after shot in that cheap, soaking-wet blonde wig, and there Buster would be on shore in his dry silk lounging robe and expensive blonde wig and they'd be patting him on the back, 'Beautiful take, Buster Baby.'"

But all that, all the bright lights, are behind Pete Dorskoff now. He's a dedicated professional longshoreman.

And you're in trouble, Harry baby.

WE HATE to offer apologies for an otherwise thorough sports page, but The Post neglected to run last week's released final NPL football statistics, so here they are, in short form:

RUSHING: Cottrell, SSF (73 carries, 816 yards, 11.2 average); Castellano, EC (107, 611, 5.7); Lampkins, HMB (71, 369, 5.2); Teams, EC (66, 356, 5.5); Bonner, TN (46, 336, 7.3); Nuttal, 0 (72, 334, 4.7); Verducci, W (46, 249, 5.6); Achziger, TN (21, 246, 11.7); Salvemini, TN, (64, 234, 3.5); Nash, SSF (39, 222 5.7).

PASSING: Lucia, EC (42 completions for 93 attempts, 738 yards, 8 TD's) Proctor, W (31-72, 464, 2); Olson, SSF (21-42, 417, 6); Topolinski, TN (19-59, 351, 3); Mullins, HMB (20-70, 294, 3); Morton, 0 (21-55, 209, 1).

RECEIVING: Landers, EC (20 passes caught, 381 yards, 1 TD); Tyler, EC (16, 319, 4); Smith, SSF (13, 297, 6); Lampkins, HMB (16, 229, 2); Sirianni, W (8, 203, 2); Smith, TN (5, 187, 2); Fell, 0 (15, 163, 1).

And if we do a bit of editorializing, one of the finest runners in the NPL last year, Terra Nova's Mike Kenny, sat out the entire season with a summer-time broken arm which failed to heal properly. He may have been All-League. His replacement, however, Tony Salvemini, did a fine job. Kenny will be ready, however, to once again harass Tiger basketball opponents.

WE DON'T know why, every year, we get disturbed over the "All" teams, because it does no good. They are traditionally stupid. Like last week's UPI All-Coast squad, which didn't name a Cal or Stanford man or either the offensive or defensive squads (They were almost all from USC or UCLA), but which picked 14, count 'em, 14 Indians on the honorable mention list, not to mention nine Bears. Even more disturbing was that not one UCLA or USC player made honorable mention.

Looking at those picks logically, you know what that all means, don't you? That almost every Stanford first stringer was an excellent football player, but that only nine Trojans (that's how many made All Coast) and only five Bruins were outstanding, and that those nine and five, respectively, had nothing backing them up. So Stanford should be in the Rose Bowl. But that's only if you want to be logical. Why be different?

Want more? The only San Francisco State player to get a mention was offensive guard Elmer Collett. Yet, when the Gator squad itself chose it's outstanding players, linebackers Rudy Lapera (who made 47 unnassisted tackles, 73 assisted tackles, recovered five fumbles, blocked five passes, and returned a punt for a 37-yard touchdown) was chosen Back of the Year, and defensive tackle Terry Oakes (16 unassisted tackles, 51 assisted tackles, eight blocked passes) was picked Most Valuable Lineman.

We're not putting the knock on Collett, who was a fine offensive guard. We simply feel that if he deserved Honorable Mention, then so too, did Lapera and Oakes . . . especially since they were handing the Honorable Mentions out so freely.

WE REALLY don't like dwelling on Parsegian and Notre Dame, but we can understand now — though not condone — why he didn't go for the win against Michigan State. He knew that with a tie the worst he could do in the national polls would be a second, perhaps a tie for first, and gambled that with his remaining game against USC — Michigan State finished up with the Irish — he could get back to number one with a smasher. Which he did.

In defense of Parsegian, you can't really say he poured it on against USC, that he should have used his second stringers. With all the injuries Notre Dame had, his second stringers started the game!

And with the momentum the Irish had, even the third and fourth stringers would have scored. A coach can "lay off" only to a degree, that is, pull his regulars in a lop-sided game. But he can't with conscience send his scrubs in and tell them not to try.

3 Have 4-1-0 Records

THE Westlake 49ers, F.D.R. Thunderbolts and Daniel Webster Long Bombs tied for first place honors in the Daly City Recreation Department's West Coast Conference touch football League.

Westlake moved into the three-way tie for first place last week with a 32-7 victory over the Vista Mar Crusaders. Mike Hartnett was at the top of the scoring column with five touchdowns, and Larry Deaver played an outstanding defensive game.

Earlier in the week, F.D.R. pulled off an upset victory, beating Westlake 19-13. Robin Green and Dava Adama paced the Thunderbolt attack.

The Daniel Webster Long Bombs finished the season last week with a 23-0 victory over the Abraham Lincoln Rebels. Joe Call, Alonzo Stevens and Pat Relei each scored TD's on pass interception, and Jeff Snyder was a defensive standout for the winners.

New Wrestling Coach Added

A new coach has been added to the Jefferson High wrestling team staff this year, Coach Joe McGrath has announced.

Assisting McGrath in tutoring the grapplers will be junior varsity Coach Ed Johnson.

A series of warm up matches have been scheduled prior to the annual novice tournament and will be held December 8 to 10 at El Camino.

The Jeff team will depend heavily on the efforts of returning mat veterans Stan Rideau, Phil Ellsworth, Ray Jess and Jerry and Tommy Salvadore.

Evaluating the team's prospects for the season, McGrath said the competition will be "rough," and Westmoor and South San Francisco are the "teams to beat."

T.N. Varsity Game Canceled

Terra Nova High basketballers will play their season opener against Crestmoor Friday afternoon in Pacifica, after suffering a rare mishap in basketball: a game called because of rain.

Terra Nova was scheduled to play San Rafael there last Friday, but the game was called after the host school's gymnasium floor buckled from the excessive moisture.

BOB GROUT, a 19-year-old Daly City bowler, rolled a perfect 300 game last week at Westlake Bowl. Grout's perfect game was only the second officially sanctioned 300 game ever recorded at Westlake. Bowling in the "Scratch League," Grout also set a record of 773. Three years ago, when he was 16, Bob bowled a 299 game while competing in the Junior League at Westlake.

Jehovah's Witnesses Set San Francisco Assembly

Organizational arrangements have been completed for the forthcoming circuit assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses at the Scottish Rite Temple in San Francisco December 23-25.

William Thompson, presiding minister of the Daly City congregation, has announced his appointment as assistant manager. He will work closely with Herman Bachtle of San Bruno, convention manager. George Quiroz of Daly City will assist in supervising the literature department.

Thompson stated that 20 departments have been organized to care for convention needs and they will be manned entirely by volunteer workers.

"We all work together like one happy family," he said, "with no national or racial problems in our entire organization." He attributes this unity to the power of God's word. "Bible knowledge," he said, "has unified Jehovah's Witnesses and draws them together in bonds of Christian brotherhood."

According to Thompson, members of 17 San Francisco and Peninsula congregations will attend the assembly. Over 1,600 are expected to be present to hear the public Bible lecture, "Satisfying Mankind's Greatest Need."

The discourse climaxes the convention December 25, at 3 p.m. and will be delivered by Arden B. Stutler, district supervisor and travelling representative of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York.

Rabbi Recalls Origins Of Chanukah Holidays

By RABBI SOLOMON SHORE

Throughout the world, people of the Jewish faith will kindle the first candle of Chanukah (The Festival of Lights) Thursday in order to bring back to life a heroic saga which took place some 2,200 years ago in ancient Israel.

This heroic story is of such historic significance that a full week and a day has been assigned for its celebration, and throughout the ages, Jews in all lands have made Chanukah a joyous occasion.

The last few hundred years beforethe common era, were years of great struggle for survival for the Jews of the Holy Land.

The Greeks of that day had forcedthemselve into that part of the world with both arms and propaganda. Greece was anxious to become a great power and almost achieved her ambition to become an empire.

The military spirit of the Spartans usuually prevailed, and most of the countries of the Middle East were quickly subjugated under Greek rule.

Greek culture and the Greek way of life usually followed, and in a short period of time a vast stretch of land and its people became vassals of Athens.

There was one little country inhabited by a people greatly devoted to their own religion and to their own way of life which became a great obstacle to mighty Greece, because that country controlled a long stretch of the Mediterranean Ocean and thus interferred with Greek commerce.

The country was ancient Israel and its people, the founders of a great religion which eventually became a world religion.

In numbers, the Jews of ancient Israel were rather small compared with Egypt or Syria, but what they lacked in numbers they made up for in spirit and their great devotion to Judaism which had flourished at that time.

The Greeks had placed a strong military army in Syria and thus controlled hundreds of miles of territory and millions of people. In case of any rebellion, Syrian army units were quickly dispatched to the troubled area.

The Jews of ancient Israel were not anxious to rebel against Greece so long as the Greeks did not interfere with their religious practices, but the Greeks were not satisfied with the Jewish point of view, and wanted complete subjugation.

They forced the Jews to become Greek vassals like peoples of the other neighboring countries. This the Jews resisted, and before long a Jewish militar unit was organized.

A noted religious leader and his five sons became the nucleus of the underground. From a hiding place not far from the city of Jerusalem, they began to deal with the strategy of the rebellion.

In a short time, the Jewish army became well organized and put up a strong fight. They fought the Greeks and the Syrian units with great zeal and devotion.

The Greeks had to call out a famous military general to inspire their legions.

After several years of fighting, the Greek army units retreated and ancient Israel became a free and independent nation. The Holy Temple in Jerusalem, which King Solomon had built, was cleansed and purified and the perpetual light was about to be kindled.

They looked for some oil for the Eternal Light, but no oil was to be found at the moment. At last a crucible was located, containing just a little oil.

When the memorial was finally kindled, it burned for eight days, and the tradition of celebrating eight days of Chanukah, kindling lights every evening, was established.

While it is considered a semi-religious holiday, it nevertheless kindled in the hearts of millions of our people all through the centuries a sense of pride, that we have sparks of heroism and that we would gladly give our lives for any just cause.

Westlake Lutheran Gives Upcoming Sunday Program

At the morning worship service at 11 a.m. this Sunday, the congregation of Westlake Lutheran Church will join with other congregations of the American Lutheran Church in an Advent Hymn Festival.

The Rev. Kenneth D. Hansen, pastor of the congregation, explained the meaning and intention of the liturgy of worship is to be expressed in ten hymns. Soloists, the choir, and the whole congregation will share in the singing.

The hymn festival is to stimulate the singing of hymns in the church and to help worshipers understand the liturgy.

"Shall we look for another?" is to be the theme of Pastor Hansen's sermon.

Youth will spend Saturday decorating the church for Christmas.

They will end the day with a piazza party, during which they will continue their discussion on the theme

"Youth looks at dating and sex."

This discussion was introduced by Sam Miller of the North County Mental Health Center, December 4.

Holiday Spirit

Louanne Heath

New Year's Day may be just as important and exciting as Christmas this year for Westmoor High School's Mike Hinton, Kath O'Shaughnessy and Greg Adams. The talented band students, instructor Howard Loeffler's "dynamic duo plus one" have an excellent chance of being included in the Robin Hood Band and performing in the Pasadena Tournament of Roses parade and during half time in the Rose Bowl, according to Mrs. William Ross, who is doing the band's publicity work.

The local threesome trekked to San Francisco recently where they auditioned before TV cameras. The tapes of the auditions have now been sent to Los Angeles where judges will select the members of the Robin Hood bands from tapes sent to them by high schools all over the United States.

According to Mrs. Ross, Mike, who plays drums; Kathy who is a flutist and Gret who is a trumpeteer, are on pins and needles awaiting word of the judges choice.

Excited as they may be over the possibility of a Rose Bowl trip, the three, along with the entire music department at Westmoor, is much too busy to waste time day-dreaming about the future. The band's music was one of the featured highlights at the P-TA dinner and basketball game at Westmoor this past weekend and on December 15 the music department is planning a special tribute to the parents of the music students, a Christmas concert to be held in the Little Theater with the students performing under the direction of Loeffler.

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. James Griffis of Westlake are supervising the rehearsal and presentation of a Christmas pageant, an interpretation of the Christmas story by the children of Lakeside Presbyterian Church.

The program, entitled the Star of Bethlehem, will be presented in the church sanctuary, Nineteenth Avenue at Eucalyptus Drive, at 7:30 p.m. on December 16.

Among those assisting the Griffis' are Mrs. Rhea Fischer, Mrs. Beverly Thornicraft, Mrs. E. G. Fenston, Mrs. Mignon Lindberg, Mrs. Ann Parker, Mrs. Louise Enberg, Alvin Gundred and the youths of the senior high class.

Saturday the members of Nu Sigma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi will celebrate the arrival of the holiday season with a dinner dance to be held in the Fox Hostess House in San Francisco.

Mrs. Isabel Eichner, social chairman, is in charge of the preparations for the dinner dance and the cocktail hour which will precede it.

Nu Sigma members are maintaining busy schedules during the pre-Christmas season by assisting the fire department with its Operation Santa Claus and by taking part in activities planned by sister chapters of the sorority.

Mrs. Pat Cruz, Mrs. Dorothy Decker and Mrs. Marty Sugrue modelled in a fashion show presented by Xi Kappa Upsilon of San Bruno. The event, held in the New Southern Restaurant in South San Francisco, was the major activity on the sorority calendar for last week.

Members of the Riordan Guild and the Riordan Fathers' Club will hold a joint Christmas party at 8 p.m. in the Riordan High School on Tuesday evening.

A short business meeting of the Guild will be held in the school auditorium and the Riordan Club will meet in the library prior to the party.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ortelle, the parents of a Riordan sophomore, are the party chairmen, and they are assisted by the parents of the sophomore division students.

According to Mrs. Elizabeth Bucci, publicity chairman, the members of the guild will place gifts of money on the Christmas tree during the evening and these donations will be given to the Marianist Order.

Mrs. Ann Peters, publicity chairman for the Daly City Community Chorus, is recovering from a bout with exhaustion which sent her to Mary's Help Hospital for one week.

Members of the chorus cheered her with cards and flowers and her own personal concert, sung via the telephone on Thursday evening, just before she was discharged and departed for the home of her sister, Mrs. Rosemarie Hill, of Monterey, where she will relax for an additional week.

Mrs. Peter was absent, but practically everyone else in the chorus was on hand last Saturday evening when the group gathered in the Broadmoor community center for a Christmas party and potluck dinner. Sam Silverman was chairman, Mrs. Adela Zamona was the organizer of the dinner.

Tomorrow evening the chorus has scheduled a visit to the Laguna Honda Home in San Francisco where they will carol for the residents of the home and following that they will begin putting the finishing touches on their program in the War Memorial Building on December 20.

It will be Christmas fun and potluck dining for the members of the Holy Angels Women's Guild this evening in the parish hall, according to Mrs. Chris Sigigie, publicity chairman.

Specially invited guests for the dinner will be the Sisters of the Holy Infant Jesus who make up the faculty at Holy Angels parish school.

Mrs. Nan Scarpino is the chairman of the dinner and women planning to attend are asked to call her, 892-1756, to make arrangements to bring a portion of the repast.

Christmas songs and Santa's Kitchen will be a part of the program being prepared by the members of the Vista Mar P-TA, according to word from the unit president, Mrs. Virgil Anderson.

The event, which will get under way at 12:45 p.m. in the multi-use room of the school, will begin with a concert by the children of the school prepared under the direction of Majorie Tobias, principal of the school, Paul Carpenter, glee club director, and the members of the school faculty.

Santa's Kitchen, which will open its doors for business immediately following the children's program, will feature a mouthwatering display of cakes, candies, cookies and holiday tidbits for the adults and candied apples, popcorn and grab bag treats for the kiddies. A clown will be distributing balloons to the Kitchen's visitors.

Mrs. Richard Dardi, ways and means chairman, is in charge of the Santa's Kitchen. Co-chairmen of the event are Mrs. Robert DeVencenzi, Mrs. Richard Snyder and Mrs. Richard Napp.

Mrs. Anderson emphasized that the event is open to the public and that all the receipts from the sale will go into the P-TA fund.

Vow Exchange At Chapel in Reno

Family Life

Carren Rae Marso and Roger Lee Giberson became man and wife recently at the Silver Bells Chapel in Reno, Nev. The Rev. O. V. Boteler officiated at an altar decorated with baskets of gladioli, roses and carnations.

The couple will make their first home in Millbrae.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Lauretta Marso of Millbrae and Kleo Marso of San Francisco. Fred E. Sarra of San Bruno gave her in marriage.

For her vow exchange, Carren wore a street-length gown of white lace over satin and a lace veil. She carried white orchids over a small white Bible.

An alumna of Capuchino High School, she is the sister of Paulette Kammerdiener Jr. of Montana, and Linda and Lynette Marso, twins of Millbrae.

Mrs. Fred E. Sarra of San Bruno was the sole feminine attendent. She wore a mint green suit with a pink and green veiled hat.

The benedict is the son of Mrs. Louise R. Giberson of Millbrae and the late Mr. Giberson. He attended Capuchino High School.

The couple honeymooned in Lake Tahoe and Virginia City. For her trip, the new matron changed into a green flowered suit.

Dennis French of Millbrae also attended the 5:30 p.m. ceremony.

A reception is planned on the Peninsula for the newlyweds at a later date.

Beta Sigma Phi Chapter Christmas Party Dec. 10

Nu Sigma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi is holding its annual Christmas party December 10 at the Fox Hostess House in San Francisco. Social Chairman Mrs. Thomas Eichner is in charge of arrangements for the festive occasion.

Cocktails and dinner will be served. The ladies will reveal their past year's secret sisters at this party.

Nu Sigma is also working on Operation Santa Claus as one of the year's ways and means projects. They are also planning to send a blind child to camp.

Three of the sorority's members modeled in the recent Fashion Show given by Xi Kappa Upsilon at the New Southern Restaurant in South San Francisco. They were Mesdames Ramiro Cruz, Herbert Decker, and Michael Sugrue.

Guild, Fathers Club Schedule Holiday Party

Members of the Riordan Guild and the Riordan Fathers' Club will join for a Christmas party at 8 p.m., December 13 at Riordan High School.

A short business meeting of the guild will be held in the school auditorium and the Riordan Club will meet in the library. Later in the evening, both groups will enjoy refreshments and entertainment in Chaminade Hall.

During the evening party, members of the guild and the club will place gifts on the Christmas tree. These cash donations will be given to the Marianist Order.

This annual Christmas party has been planned by Mr. and Mrs. John Ortelle, parents of a sophomore student. All parents of sophomore division students will be host and hostesses for the evening.

Music Follows Baptist Church 'Fellowship'

The Rev. Robert Harrison of South San Francisco will offer a program of music at Westlake Community Baptist Church following the regular monthly "Fellowship" meal at 7:30 p.m. December 8.

For several months about 75 per cent of the members have been meeting together for the common meal and fellowship in the fellowship hall of the church.

Reverend Harrison's program will consist of gospel hymns, spirituals and Christmas numbers. The public is invited.

Reverend Harrison for more than six years travelled as an associate evangelist with Dr. Billy Graham.

At present he has an extensive ministry through radio, television, and recordings, and maintains weekly broadcasts throughout Africa, as well as the United States. Recently, with famed tenor Norman Nelson, he helped entertain several thousand American and Vietnamese soldiers in South Viet Nam.

Terra Nova Topics

By MARIA MONTENEGRO

Terra Nova's drama department did it again last week with another theatrical triumph!

Three successful performances of Arthur Miller's controversial play, "The Crucible," were given on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights.

The fourth play to be produced at Terra Nova, and the first serious drama, its cast of 20 drama students shined under the skillful direction of David Campbell and student director Kathy McLain.

The play, set in Puritan New England, dealt with the Salem witch trials. Major and minor performers together set a very realistic mood and created the tension and emotion which made the play so effective and the audiences so deeply absorbed.

ANOTHER hit on the TN campus last week was the new quarterly Tiger Tales magazine. Put out by the advanced journalism class, the magazine was highly received by students, faculty, and administration.

Terra Nova is the only school in the district to attempt a magazine format. It is also the only school in the Bay Area to publish a magazine on a regular basis.

The Tales staff did a commendable job of producing in-depth news, feature, and editorial coverage with attractive make-up.

Visiting College

Members of the Temple Judea confirmation class, and their teacher, Mrs. Norman Steinberg, and Rabbi Herbert Morris have been invited to visit Guadalupe College in Los Gatos. As part of the program, the students will discuss items with the novices and with the sisters of the college.

League Will Discuss 'Equality' at Meeting

"Equality of Opportunity in Education and Employment in North San Mateo County" will be the topic for the December general meeting of the Provisional League of Women Voters of North San Mateo County December 7, from 9:30-11:30 a.m., at Holy Cross Lutheran Church, 1165 Seville Drive, Pacifica.

George Riley, assistant director of the County Human Resources Commission, will be the speaker.

Riley has been working with programs in the North County that come under the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Discussion will include our community involvement in a head-start program, upward-bound program, and vocational training and retraining programs.

Also to be discussed are school intergration problems, programs not in effect that could be, financial aid from federal, state, and local governments, and the involvement of the "poor" in planning and implementing these programs.

The three-act comedy by Arthur Laurents, planned for showing in Febraury, involves eight persons in complications of marriage and life at an East Coast beach.

Two young male characters now are auditioning, and winning candidates will be announced soon, according to Nathaniel Marks, director of the play.

Those already rehearsing are Travis Barnes of Foster City, Addie Schwartz, Janet Watson, Sharon Hollander, Robert Formanek, and Gilbert West, all of Pacifica, and Estelle Novello of Daly City.

Miss Hollander, in addition to playing the role of the play's ingenue, will serve as stage manager.

VOLKSWAGEN seems to keep a lot of records . . .

Take, for instance, the one just out, passed on to us by George Ivanow, sales manager at Daly City Volkswagen, who announces — get this! — a decline in the number of babies born in Volkswagen.

The reason Volks keeps a record like this, says Ivanow, is that the firm provides parents of "Beetle Babies," with U.S. Savings Bonds. For "outstanding achievement," Ivanow explains.

The decline was from 18 in 1965, to 14 so far this year.

PAUL REYFF, once a candidate for San Mateo County treasurer has opened his newest U-Save Liquor Store in the new Portola Plaza Shopping Center.

Paul's brother, Lou, is managing the new store.

DIAL GLASS owner Jim Wilson and his wife, Doris, are moving ahead with their business in Pacifica . . . and still managing horseback riding and bowling and other organizations that keep a guy (and gals) going in their "spare time."

Jim and Doris opened his own business four years back, first out of the truck, then at Palmetto and San Jose. And just last year, Dial Glass went into even larger quarters at Santa Rosa and Palmetto.

Jim is a licensed contractor, and a member of the Glazers and Glassworkers Union Local 718 (so are his four employes).

With the exclusive International Aluminnm franchise from Daly City to Santa Cruz, he's able to take advantage of the additional know-how of the first company to make aluminum windows on the coast.

The glass business — at least Jim's — lets him move around the area quite a bit. That means more people for both Him and Doris to meet. They like people.

The Wilsons, who have lived in the Linda Mar region of Pacifica six years, have two daughters, Leigh, 12, and Terri, 10.

No Hurts In Train Smashups

Southern Pasific trains racked up two private cars at a South San Farncisco grade crossing over the weekend.

No one was injured but both cars were completely demolished.

The first accident occurred Saturday after a car driven by Magna Jensen, of San Francisco, started crossing the tracks. The car's rear wheels became wedged between two rails.

While trying to move the car off the crossing, Jensen saw a train coming and jumped out. The freight train rammed into the vehicle and dragged it more than 100 yards before coming to a halt.

In the second incident, Sunday, Bette Clancy, of 1048 Sunnyside Drive, South San Francisco, was making a "U" turn on the crossing when her front wheels dropped between the rails.

Patrolling officers spotted the Clancy car straddling the rails at about the same time they saw a train coming down the main track.

Rushing to the car they yelled to the woman to get out.

Area Students Hear Shapiro

A group of Westmoor High School students were among the persons attending a recent hour-long reading by Pulitzer award winner Karl Shapiro at the San Francisco Museum of Art.

Shapiro offered comments on some of the works he read and spoke about interpretation by critics of his works.

Many poems Shapiro read at the museum were unpublished, including several from his latest volume.

Students who attended the reading have studied at least one of Shapiro's poems in English class.

El Monte Man Slugged, Robbed

An El Monte youth was slugged and robbed outside Westmoor High School in Daly City Sunday night by two "buddies" the victim met three days ago.

Mark Charles Berry, 19, told police the three drove to San Francisco to enlist in the Merchant Marine service.

After touring the city, with Berry paying all expenses, they decided to drive to Daly City where they had heard a school dance party was be g held.

Berry was sitting in the front seat with one of the men when they arrived at the high school. As the car slowed down, Berry was hit from behind and knocked unconscious.

The pair relieved Berry of his trousers, containing various identification papers and more than $140 in America Express travelers' checks, the victim told police.

Berry was treated for a laceration on the back of his head and right finger.

Police said identity of the suspects, who fled the scene in their car, was unknown.

Elderly Man Is Robbed In Daly City

Relatives of an elderly Daly City man who was robbed at gunpoint on a downtown street last week talked him into reporting the incident to police yesterday.

Paul Pacini said he was afraid to tell police about the robbery in fear for his life, but relatives had urged him to go to police for help.

The 83-year-old Pacini said two men stopped him on East Market Street last week and threatened him with a chrome-plated pistol.

While one man held the gun on him, the other went through his pockets. They netted $10.

The pair was described as swarthy, about 35 years old, with black hair.

One man wore gold earrings, Pacini tolld police.

A Skating Mishap Leads To Accident

Two Terra Nova High School students driving on Linda Mar Boulevard at 4:46 p.m. Wednesday became alarmed when they saw a youngster on skates fall and strike his head. They received apparently minor injuries when their sports car struck a parked vehicle while their attention was diverted.

According to Pacifica police, 17-year-old Gerald Schnecker, 20, Point Reyes, with 16-year-old Rex A. Starr of 1510 Crespi Drive, a passenger, was driving westbound on Linda Mar Boulevard when the two saw young Carry Robinson of 1275 Linda Mar Boulevard fall while skating.

The youths looked back over their shoulders and the sports car swerved to the right and struck a parked vehicle registered to Harry R. Ford of 1344 Adobe.

The boys had estimated their speed at 25 miles an hour.

Schnecker suffered a nose injury, while Starr "bumped" his arm.

One of the teen-agers credited seat belts with saving the pair from serious injury.

"DENTAL HEALTH FACTS"

Don't neglect care of baby teeth just because they are eventually replaced. Neglected baby teeth can cause children much harm. Due to this neglect children may not eat many of the nourishing foods they need for proper growth. Neglected baby teeth may have to come out too soon. When a baby tooth comes out too soon, the teeth on both sides of the empty space have time to fill the gap: This crowds the incoming permanent tooth out of its proper place in the mouth.

Dr. Campbell tries to limit his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for same, however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth as dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

Officer Is Hurt Making Arrest

Highway Patrolman Cliff Gerken was hospitalized last night with a shoulder injury suffered while arresting a young gas station attendant on Bayshore Freeway in South San Francisco.

Gerken's partner, Allen Bain, said they chased the suspect's car from Millbrae to South San Francisco at speeds of up to 100 miles an hour and saw the other auto slip in the mud on the shoulder and in the divider strip and nearly collide with other cars.

The driver, William L. Kozier, 19, of Sunnyvale, was "very belligerent," Bain reported. While he was being searched, Bain said, Kozier made a suspicious move with his left hand and Gerken grabbed him, throwing his shoulder out of joint.

Gerken was admitted to Peninsula Hospital.

Kozier was taken to county jail on charges of reckless driving, speeding and other violations.

Jailers said he was "extremely hostile"

'Plants' Car in Hothouse

A 16-year-old San Francisco boy "planted" his car right in the middle of a Daly City greenhouse yesterday.

Highway Patrolman Lloyed Andersen said Armando J. Ramirez, a Mission High School student, lost control of his sedan at Edgeworth Avenue and Ninety-first Street. The auto skidded off the roadway and crashed through the front of a nursery owned by Joe Armanino, coming to rest 20 feet inside.

Andersen said 600 carnation plants, owned by the Ikeda Nursery, which leases the greenhouses, were destroyed.

The boy was cited for driving without a license.

Sugar 'n Spice

Season's Goodies

Nell Norton

Good morning cooks. And a merry two weeks and four days before Christmas to you. Does that shake you up? Have you been trying to forget that you had such a short time in which to do all those Christmas things? When are you going to find time to buy the rest of the gifts, wrap and hide them, mail the Christmas cards, and bake cookies. Ah me, grab an oar and get on board, we are all in the same boat.

SPEAKING of Christmas cookies, next week's column will feature cookie recipes from near and far, some old and some new and all delicious. I hope you will give them a try.

Now to get down to the business of this week. Do you recall, dear friends and loyal readers, that back in September I asked if any of you had a recipe for a pie using beaten egg whites, crackers and nuts? A reader had asked for such a recipe and I was sure that some of you good cooks had it filed away. I was right. For the next weeks mail brought me letters from you generous gals, with this recipe and some interesting varieties of pies.

It is interesting to see the different names that the pie has, for example Mrs. S. G. Mazolum of San Bruno calls it "Mystery Pie." While Mrs. William Lakin of Pacifica sends me a "Surprise Pie." Mrs. Jay Buchanan who lives down in San Bruno sent me her recipe for "Ritz Cake."

Three ladies from Daly City sent me the recipe. Mrs. June Dailey called it "Crazy Pie," Mrs. Sue Carrothers and Mrs. S. Jacobs called it "Ritz Cracker Pie." My thanks to all you GG's (generous gals.)

☆ ☆ ☆

WHILE the recipes had different names, basically they were the same recipe, some had slight variation in amounts. Here is the recipe that I used and the results were delicious. I'll even give it my own name, so no partiality will be shown to any of the good cooks who sent in recipies.

"YUM" PIE

3 egg whites (beaten stiff)
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon baking powder
Pinch of salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
20 round crackers, (ground fine)
1 cup walnuts (chopped)

Beat egg whites to very stiff consistancy, gradually beat in sugar, baking powder, salt and vanilla. Lastly, fold in crackers and nuts.

Pour in to a 9-inch greased pie pan. It will be nearly full, built up the sides slightly higher than the center. Bake in 350 degree oven, 25 to 30 minutes.

Cool and top with whipped cream. Refrigerate about 2 hours.

GALS, this is simply wonderful and I estimate that it must have about a thousand calories a bite. So in fairness to any of you who are watching your weight — make it at your own risk. You won't be able to resist it. I couldn't.

Baking Note: When I poured the mixture into the pie pans it was too soft to build up the sides. So I popped it in the oven and when it began to bake and brown a bit, I just pulled it out and with a fork built up the sides. It worked fine.

Mrs. Esther Fowler of Daly City was kind enough to send me this unusual recipe for a pie using crackers as a basic ingridient and I am happy to share it with you good cooks. The amazing thing about this pie is that it really tastes like apple pie.

2¼ cups water
1½ cups sugar, granulated
2 teaspoons cream of tarter, level
24 unbroken Ritz crackers
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Butter
cinamon
pastry for 2-crust pie

Combine water, sugar, cream of tarter and bring to a boil. Add the 24 crackers all at once. Don't stir. Boil for 2 minutes. Add lemon juice. Pour into unbaked pie crust. Dot with butter and sprinkle with cinnamon. Add top crust and bake in 425-degree oven about 20 minutes.

Berries For Christmas And Flowers For Spring

Home and Garden

By IVA NEWMAN

As 1966 races pell mell toward the Christmas season branches heavily festooned with bright red berries are in heavy demand. And, 1966 is a particularly good berry year as witness the branches of several kinds of berry-bearing shrubs drooping under their heavy load of fruits, washed to shiny brightness by the rains.

Fruiting time is about the best time to select one of these shrubs that add so much color to the holiday season. Pyracanthas and cotoneasters, two of our most popular berry-bearing shrubs can be had with berries in several shades of red plus orange and pink. Of course, if you know the botannical name of the one you want you can place your order over the phone but most home gardeners only know the plant they want when they see the fruits in color so these folks should take time to visit their favorite nursery and make a selection while the berries are at the height of their beauty.

Berried shrubs have two seasons of their great beauty, during November, December and January when the color of the berries make dull days bright, and in spring when the branches are covered with fragrant blossoms.

Both the cotoneaster and the pyracantha should be pruned each year to keep the plants neat and attractive. The best pruning time is just as the berries begin to wither and drop. They also respond well to pruning while they are in fine berry, so be generous with your use of these colorful berries for indoor decorations, but, do take time to cut the heavily laden branches properly so you will have another good crop next year.

Harry Nelson, horticulture instructor at the college of San Francisco, taught his students that cotoneasters could be made to provide a good show of color every year by careful pruning. Careless pruning will result in berries only every other year.

The first rule in pruning these shrubs is to determine the wood the flowers and fruit appear on. This is easy to do when the branches are heavy with fruit. All the pruner needs to do is decide how tall he wants his next year's branches to be then cut the berried branch just above a strong, unflowered lateral that will give him this height.

Cotoneasters bloom on one year old wood and the berries that follow are on two year old wood. In other words the unbloomed laterals to which you should cut started growing this past spring while the plant was in flower. These young branches will be a year old when they begin flowering next spring and they will be in their second year when the berries color up in the fall.

Never Cut Them Square

Cotoneasters should never be cut square or hedge-like as that is not their natural habit of growth and such treatment will prevent their having many berries. Part of the beauty of these shrubs is their arching branches that resemble the graceful sprays of water in a fountain.

Some of the more popular cotoneasters are: C. francheti, a spreading and graceful shrub to six or eight feet, heavily clothed with olive green leaves, has clusters of pinkish to flesh-colored flowers and bright orange berries tinged with red; C. pannosa, one of the handsomest if pruned properly, has eight to ten foot arching stems, greyish foliage, white to pinkish flowers and clusters of very persistent orange to red berries, (prune only to remove entire stems so as to retain the inherent grace of the plant, which means it will need space in height as well as laterally); C. harroviana, rather pendulos in habit, five to six feet in height, dark green rather glossy leaves, flesh colored flowers in spring and bright red berries at Christmas; C. Parneyi is considered by many horticulturists to be one of the finest cotoneasters available. It has a rather erect form that is not so spreading as most cotoneasters, reaches a height of five to eight feet, may be compacted easily with good pruning without destroying the intrinsic beauty of the plant. It has large, very bright red berries, excellent foliage, and white flowers in spring.

The berry-bearing plants you see espaliered on walls and fences all over this area are pyracanthas. These are splendid evergreen shrubs that are beautiful at all times of the year, and extremely ornamental when in flower and fruit. Don't overfeed these shrubs while they are young as it will cause them to lose their normally fine compact form. They should be pruned in late winter or early spring only to renew old wood or to correct a growth habit. Also limit digging about the roots as their very limited root system is much better without being disturbed. The best plants are always propagated by cuttings as seedlings do not come true. In fact you are well ahead to pay the extra price for a superior, named variety. Be sure to give the plant full sun for a full crop of berries.

Christmas berry plants are not limited to the cotoneasters and pyracanthas.

P-TA Group Meets Dec. 13

The next unit meeting of the Crocker-Pershing P-TA will be held at the Crocker School multi-use room and the General Pershing School kindergarten room December 13 at 7:30 p.m.

The students will perform in a Christmas program at their respective schools. Homemade gift items and Christmas decorations will also be sold at this time.

P-TA President Mrs. Andrew Ynostroza will open a brief business meeting with a request of a one moment silence in memory of Dr. Bernard Gerdes.

The Crocker-Pershing P-TA has sent a contribution in the name of Dr. Gerdes to the John Morgan Memorial Fund, toyard a scholarship for a Jefferson High School student.

'Can-A-Gift' At Westlake

A booth for "Can-A-Gift" is now open at the Westlake Shopping Center and will continue in operation until Christmas. The fund-raising project undertaken by the temple on Brotherhood Way has attracted many visitors to the booth.

The principle of "Can-A-Gift" is to have a gift placed in a gaily decorated can which is sealed at the booth in Westlake. The cans are two sizes and are offered with a variety of labels, such as Happy Birthday, Happy Chanukah, Merry Christmas, and floral humorous motiffs. For further information, contact Lee or Yvonne Bart.

Ursuline Guild Meets Dec. 14

St. John's Ursuline Guild will meet December 14 in the auditorium at 4056 Mission Street at 7:45 p.m.

Monsig. James M. Murray will celebrate mass which will be followed by a short meeting. The members will then exchange Christmas gifts.

Prep Choirs to Present Concerts at Westlake

Christmas shoppers at Westlake shopping center will be able to share the Christmas spirit with 60 members of a combined glee club and chorus from Westmoor from 7:30-8 8:15 p.m. December 13.

Although the songs are traditionally carols, a brass choir will substitute for the guitars, previously used as accompanist.

Members of the brass choir are trumpeters Greg Adams, Roy Youngquist, Steve Fortin; trombonist Ray Graf, bassist Chris Whitney, french hornists Marilyn Mattson, Lani Harvin.

The Jefferson High School's a capella choir will present a concert December 13 at the Center.

Vincent John Nevolo and Bessie Dupont, both of Daly City, were wed in Hyatt House nuptials by Superior Court Judge Frank Blum. Following a honeymoon in Hawaii, the couple is residing in Hillsborough. The new bride was given in marriage by her brother, Rene DuPont. Her sole attendant was Linda Boring. Best man was Ronald Chiappari. Nevolo owns Westlake and Skyline Food Centers.

Setting up a display of Christmas cushions are Joanne Davis and Opel Cline of the Women's Mission Society of the First Baptist Church of Linda Mar in Pacifica. These and other gift items will be offered at Sunday luncheon at the church, 415 Perez Drive, starting at 1 p.m. December 11. Funds from sale will help soundproof tiny-tots "cry room" in sanctuary. Sorority Girls Will Exchange Christmas Gifts

Secret sister gifts will be exchanged by members of the San Francisco Alumnae Chapter of Alpha Iota Business Sorority during their Christmas celebration and business meeting at the San Francisco home of Mrs. James Nulty December 13.

Each member will also bring a gift for distribution by the San Francisco Association for Mental Health to patients in local mental hospitals

Here's a Skillet Supper That Will Cook Itself

Some days are so busy that you long for a meal that will cook itself, and here's one that does. Chuck Wagon Skillet is a savory medley of favorite foods like ground beef, tomatoes, noodles and mellow Cheddar cheese. And it takes little or no watching while it cooks.

You can make this meal on top of the range, the way roundup cooks prepared all-in-one meals over an open fire. Kids will love this idea from the Old West, and mothers will appreciate its quick and easy preparation. Simply saute onions, then brown ground beef slowly in butter. Layer other ingredients right into the same skillet, cheese, tomatoes, even uncooked noodles. Let the skillet simmer over low heat while the noodles cook tender, the flavors mingle, and you prepare the rest of the family's dinner.

Round out the meal with Sour Cream Coleslaw and Green Beans Lyonnaise, both done in short order. Besides the perennial budget favorite, cabbage, this zippy slaw includes such plentiful vegetables as carrots, celery and green pepper. For extra zest, use a simple dressing of sour cream, its already tangy flavor enlivened by vinegar, salt, sugar and grated onion. Give the coleslaw a bright garnish with sliced radishes.

As for the green beans, they're a snap! Use frozen cut green beans sauced with butter, a bit of onion, and a spicy surprise, nutmeg and cloves. Complete this family pleasing meal with rolls and butter and plenty of refreshing milk to drink. Choose everybody's favorite, ice cream, for dessert.

CHUCK WAGON SKILLET

2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup chopped onion
1 pound ground chuck
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 cups (8 oz.) cubed Cheddar cheese
1 cup chopped celery
½ cup sliced ripe olives
2 cups medium noodles, uncooked
1 can (1 lb.) stewed tomatoes
¼ cup water

In a large covered skillet melt butter; saute onion until tender. Add meat, sprinkle over salt and pepper and brown slowly, turning occasionally. In layers add cheese, celery, olives and noodles. Pour on tomatoes and water. Cover, bring to a steam (do not remove cover) turn heat to low and simmer for 30-35 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

SOUR CREAM COLESLAW

1 tablespoon tarragon vinegar
1 teaspoon minced onion
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon sugar
½ cup dairy sour cream
3½ cups shredded cabbage
1 tablespoon minced onion
1-3 cup chopped celery
1-3 cup green pepper strips
1-3 cup coarsely grated carrots
¼ cup sliced radishes
Salad greens
Sliced radishes

In a small bowl combine vinegar, 1 teaspoon onion, salt and sugar; fold in sour cream. Cover and chill. In a large bowl combine cabbage, 1 tablespoon onion, celery, green pepper, carrots and radishes; chill. Just before serving, pour dressing over cabbage mixture; toss lightly until cabbage is well coated with dressing. Line a salad bowl with greens. Place cabbage mixture in center; garnish with sliced radishes. Makes 6 servings.

GREEN BEANS LYONNAISE

2 packages (9-oz. each) frozen cut green beans
½ cup (1 stick) butter
½ cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped parsley
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
Dash of cloves

In a 2-quart saucepan cook beans according to package directions; drain, if necessary. In a small skillet melt butter; saute onion until tender. Add parsley, pepper, nutmeg and cloves. Add to beans in saucepan and heat for 2-3 minutes.

Put Designs On Cookies

Sugar cookies can be decorated with designs of colored sugars.

Just bake cookies, "paint" design with corn syrup and then sprinkle with sugar. Shake off the excess.

A Hearty Sweet 'n Sour Dish to Serve With Ribs

All around the world, cabbage is a prime favorite with folks who know good food. The cabbage patch has its place in the literature and folklore of many nations, and crisp, flavorful cabbage figures in many a tempting dish.

Danish, Russian, Polish, Chinese, German . . . all these nationalities have contributed their bit to cabbage cookery. Your cookbook may include a variety of recipes for coleslaw, sauerkraut, stuffed cabbage leaves or casseroles. Today let's try a German dish that's been modernized to make it lighter and livelier. Cabbage and Apples, German Style, combines the best of both worlds, the old and the new.

There's a nippy sweet 'n' sour flavor to this modern version of a typical German salad. Because it isn't cooked as long as old-world Cabbage and Apples, this dish is better nutritionally. Overcooking, you know, takes away important vitamins and nutrients. It dulls colors, too; so our modern recipe has fresher colors, more attractive on your table. Half a cup of red wine vinegar helps keep the cabbage red and crisp, and delicious sour cream adds wonderfully tangy flavor.

Plan to serve this appetizing vegetable salad when cabbage and apples are plentiful any time you have ribs, pork roast or spicy sausage. Light, yet hearty, it's a quick vegetable salad for family meals.

CABBAGE AND APPLES GERMAN STYLE

- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1-3 cup finely chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 6 cups shredded red cabbage
- ½ cup red wine vinegar
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1 cup peeled, diced red apple (approx. 1 large apple)
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1½ cups dairy sour cream
- Apple slices (optional)

In a large skillet melt butter; saute onion with 2 tablespoons sugar five minutes. Stir in cabbage, vinegar and salt. Cover and simmer 10 minutes. Add apple and 2 tablespoons sugar. Cover and cook about 5 minutes. Transfer to heated platter; spoon sour cream over center of cabbage. Garnish with apple slices, if desired. Makes 8-10 servings.

Mold a Bright, New Buffet Salad

At any season of the year a buffet style meal is fashionable and easy to serve. Just cut slices of Cheddar and Brick cheese, cut a red-coated Gouda into serving wedges, and arrange them on a platter with your favorite cold meats. For the center of attraction you'll need a really dramatic salad, one that goes well with meats and cheese. Here it is: Cardinal Salad Mold, not too sweet, not to tart, just rigth for an informal meal.

CARDINAL SALAD MOLD

Top Layer:

- 1 package (3 oz.) lemon flavor vor gelatin
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1½ cups dairy sour cream
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon grated orange rind
- ¾ teaspoon salt

Bottom Layer:

- 1 package (3 oz.) lemon flvor gelatin
- ¾ cup boiling water
- 1 can (1 lb.) diced beets
- ¾ cup liquid
- 3 tablespoons cider vinegar
- 1 tablespoon grated onion
- 2 teaspoons prepared horseradish
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese
- ½ cup diced celery

To prepare Top Layer: Dissolve gelatin in water. Chill until jellylike in consistency. In a mixing bowl whip until fluffy (about 3 minutes); fold in sour cream, lemon juice, orange rind and salt. Turn into an 8-cup salad mold which has been rinsed with cold water; chill until set.

Meanwhile, prepare Bottom layer; dissolve gelatin in water. Drain beets, reserving liquid; set beets aside. To reserved liquid add enough water to make ¾ cup. Add to gelatin along with vinegar, onion, horseradish and salt. Chill until jellylike in consistency. Form cream cheese into tiny balls and fold into gelatin along with celery and beets. Pour over Top Layer; chill until firm. Serve as a combination salad-relish with cheese and cold cuts. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Holiday Banquet Rush Starts at Holiday Inn

THE CHRISTMAS SEASON at the Holiday Inn in South San Francisco got under way when the Volkswagen Clubs of America held its annual Christmas party. Many other San Mateo County business firms and private organizations are scheduled to gather at the Inn during December. It was mentioned by Fred and Jerry Rapp, co-owners of the Holiday Inn, that most holiday reservations were booked as early as January of 1966. The South San Francisco Holiday Inn recently completed a $60,000 expansion program, providing for additional facilities to meet the growing need of County business and professional groups for banquet and meeting accommodations at the Inn . . . French and Italian cuisine is the "house special" at Guy and Al Falachi's High Iron, on the Coast Highway, Pacifica. The history behind this site of the original Vallemar Train Station will fascinate you.

Jerry Rapp

HOLIDAY PARTIES are more fun at the Palo Alto Prime Rib Inn, because of the fast, friendly service by hostess Wanda Romero and her crew of cheerful waitresses. Wanda doubles as "brain trust" for the Inn, handling all the bookkeeping chores. Here's a gal as talented as she is beautiful . . . The versatile Big Beats continue to draw capacity crowds nightly at the Cabana Hotel in Palo Alto. A five-man, three-girl aggregation under the leadership of Larry Randall and C. W. Kendall, the well-known entertainers display both vocal and instrumental talents in Nero's Nook nightly, except Monday . . . The sweet sounds of Mr. Clean's sax and the Uncalled Four are drawing hep crowds to the Syndrome, adjacent to the Hyatt Theatre, in Burlingame, six nights a week. Come with your dancing shoes for sure—this is a swingin' place . . . Sun's Chinese restaurant, in downtown San Mateo, offers a special combination plate which the noontime crowds really favor.

Wanda Romero

NOMINATION FOR ONE OF THE COZIEST cocktail lounges during these rainy evenings: Rudolfo's in Palo Alto. Art, Harry and George Alfinito keep a fire blazing in the circular fireplace as they prepare potent drinks to warm the inner man (or woman). Music is furnished by lovely Jean Miles at the piano. U.S.D.A. choice, corn-fed beef steaks are featured in the picturesque, Neapolitan-style restaurant . . . Oreste's famous restaurant at 118 Jones Street, serves the finest of dinners and at modest prices. Oreste's beginning was a one-room dining place, and has now expanded to another building, another dining room, private club-rooms, and a wine cellar . . . Bruno's, formely Dino's in downtown San Mateo, is still proving a favorite with diners looking for exceptional food at exceptional prices. As a perfect example of chef Bruno Fava's fine menu, try his Veal Scallopini for a starter . . . Jazz song stylist Jo Ryder, now trilling with her talented pipes at the Cameo Club, Palo Alto, has come a long way since singing with the Harry James band.

Art Alfinito

"THE WELL HAS RUN DRY. From now on, charge, please. No cash allowed," was the comment of Reno Donati, co-owner of the New Southern restaurant in South San Francisco, after the two recent robberies within one week. The first one occured when two men entered early and made off with $3,000. On the following Monday, co-owner Nick Sparra was "relieved" of $1,800. All credit cards honored here . . . San Mateo's Castaway restaurant at Coyote Point has just the right atmosphere for pleasant, informal Polynesian dining, and a popular choice for the smart set. A wise move: Call Manager George Tribelhorn for reservations . . . Stickney's of San Mateo has appointed Dean Callahan as assistant manager. He will be in charge of the arrangement of business and social banquets in the restaurant's outstanding special lower-floor banquet facilities, which contain comfortable seating for over 250 people, a private bar and dance floor.

Reno Donati

MISS JONI LYMAN, a pert and captivating singer and dancer, is the new addition to the Deltas act now on stage at Bill Gilbert's Tiger Club at the Hilton Inn at the Airport. Headed up by dynamic Bill Gilbert and managed by personable Steve Tsiptsis, the Tiger is probably one of the busiest night spots in all of Northern California . . . Whether it's luncheon or dinner, you owe it to yourself to visit fabulous Fabbro's in Redwood City for a food treat you'll long remember. P.S.: This is a spot you'll tell your friends about . . . The Secrets, a pop musical group from Philadelphia who have a hit record rising on the charts, opened Tuesday at Wayne Manor, the Sunnyvale discotheque which was featured in Life Magazine. Drummer Sam Shear is leader of the electrifying gang . . . Sandy, the cute and curvy cocktail waitress at Plateau 7 in San Jose, is drawing almost as much attention from the diners as the Mike Maffei Trio, who play for dinner-dancing in the lounge.

Vince Licata Says "Seafood Is Here To Stay"

Was fortunate enough, Tuesday night, to catch up with Vince Licata at his Vince's Restaurant (between his trips to Lake Tahoe). The topic, of course, was "What will happen to the Friday night seafood trade?" Handsome Vince, with an ear-to-there smile, was quick to remark, "People know that seafood is good for their waistlines and that it is one of the healthiest meals on any menu. So they will order fish whether it's Friday or any other day in the week."

I ordered my sand dabs without another word.

One of the big "draws" at the New Tivoli, one of the San Francisco's famous Italian restaurants on Grant Avenue, is Nick Finocchio's dessert feature on Saturdays and Sundays — specially-made petite fours, the kind your father's father used to bring home from North Beach. The sweet-tooth treats are served for desert at your table. or are boxed for taking home. Suggestion: Put in your orders fast 'cause they go faster than ducks in flight.

☆

Besides serving flavorful Mexican dishes, Pancho's in Redwood City (at Five Points), offers banquet facilities for parties during the year—and especially during the holidays. Accommodations for groups up to 30.

Fosters Coffee Shop And Pancake House Has Many Specials

Foster's Coffee Shop and Pancake House in the El Camino-Hillsdale area, features Farm-Fried Chicken, biscuits, pancakes of all nations, and one of the best waffles you'll ever taste. Special lunches and dinners, are served in an atmosphere that sparkles with holiday cheer.

Another taste tip: For that "What shall we give the folks for Christmas?" — did you ever consider a Foster's Fruit Cake? They are packed in colorful tins (of different sizes) and may be shipped, if desired.

There are few places on the Peninsula where you can combine dinner-dancing and pianobar entertainment on a plush scale such as is afforded at the Burlingame Hyatt House. Also consider this: There is no minimum or cover charge for all this grandeur. Reservations are now being taken for all party occasions. An ideal location for company parties and banquets.

☆

The Retail Credit Company, led by Earl Wilson (not the famed New York columnist,) held a dinner meeting in the Executive Room at Lew Lehr's.

☆

The Blue Peacock Restaurant, in the King's Bowl, Millbrae, is now taking reservations for their third annual New Year's Eve party. A prime rib dinner, dancing to live music, unlimited bowling and billiards, and, of course, all the refreshments you can handle, is on the celebration agenda.

50 Years In Show Business

Fred Waring and the Pennsylvanians, who are now celebrating their 50th year as top show business attractions, will treat people in the Nevada-California vicinity with their fine artistry and magic music when they appear for a Yuletide season show in the Circus Room of the Nugget in Sparks (East Reno), Nevada, December 15 through January 2.

☆

If your plump Bright Lighter doesn't get down to Scotty Campbell's for some of their prime ribs, next week, Mary Lou will think I was caught in a snow storm. Set the table for Tuesday p.m., Mary dear, and plan to spend some time for a double Sanka with Yours Truly.

Food To Go For La Touraine

Something new has been added to the La Touraine restaurant: Ernest Luisetti and Maurice Brossier are now offering their delightful French food to take out. Complete meals can be delivered to your home, free delivery for orders of four, or more.

☆

Luz Garcia's new Sinaloa show, which will hold over for the New Year, is a solid winner, with curvaceous Luisa taking over Clarita's spot, and Willie Vargas, an East Coast master of ceremonies, doing an excellent job. The Sandoval Singers, one of Mexico's top recording groups, are scoring great with the evening crowds.

We give you less for your money.

You don't get a drive shaft. (Our engine is in the rear to give you better traction.)

And you don't get a radiator. Or a water pump. Or hoses. (Our engine is air-cooled, not water-cooled.)

And since you don't get any of these things, you don't have to get anti-freeze. Or rust inhibitors.

And what you don't get, you don't have to pay for.

So if you like what you don't get, you can get a new Volkswagen for only $1717 P.O.E.

That's the price you pay for getting less.

Pickets Again March

Measuring circumference of the earth by angles in Westmoor High School's earth science class is Thomas Brodie, while Marty Cloonan and Carol Da-Gragnano calculate diameter of the sun.

Lycett Details Program

By GEORGE GOLDING

Picketes marched in Burlingame last night as members of a tri-city "task force" gathered to plan the San Mateo-Burlingame-Millbrae reaction to proposals for a bayfront Pacific Air Commerce Center.

The pickets carried signs pleading with the Regional Planning Commission task force to "Save the Bay."

Around and around they marched, some ten or a dozen of them, mostly clean-cut College of San Mateo students.

Named the "Emergency Committee to Save the Bay," they passed out leaflets proclaiming that "Now is the time to act," to stop bay filling forever.

Inside the cities' "task force" meeting, a somewhat less decisive opinion about the job at hand was apparent as ten members of the subcommittee tried to decide just how big that task is and how to get at it.

Chairman Bernard "Bud" Lycett set one frame of reference around the committee's job, however, when he said:

"I know of no deadline for this job."

San Mateo Councilman John Murray and Burlingame Councilman R. D. Martin joining that opinion agreed not to be rushed, the committee then decided to meet monthly instead of every other week.

Under Chairman Lycett, Daly City councilman who is also chairman of the Regional Planning Commission's Bayfront Co-ordinating Committee, this charge of duties was outlined:

The committee will review in detail Pacific Air Commerce Center's proposed bayfront development and report its findings and recommendations to the R.P.C. through the bayfront committee.

Staff members, including city planners and engineers from county planners, were directed to begin the review of PACC plans and suggest just exactly how much work might be in front of the task force, and how much time will be needed to do it. The report is due at the next meeting.

Members agreed the next session would be December 29, and that they would meet the third Thursday of every month, at Burlingame City Hall.

Among the 70 persons in the audience were representatives of the Sierra Club, the Committee for Governmental Responsibility, the League of Women Voters, the American Association of University Women, and the Committee for Green Foothills.

Man Claims Assault— With a Pie

Morris E. Lando evidently doesn't like lemon cream pie.

Not that you could blame him in this case.

Lando told Pacifica police Sunday that about 7 p.m. a woman knocked at the door of his residence at 107-B Lakeside.

A friend, James Dukey opened the door and the woman asked for Morris.

The woman, later recognized by Lando as a San Jose State College co-ed, entered the home, said "Hi Morris," as Lando came into the room, threw the pie at him, turned on her heels and departed.

The incident is listed as "assault and battery" on police records.

Building Off In San Bruno

Building in San Bruno last month amounted to less than half the total building during November of 1965, the building inspection department reported today.

A total of 29 projects were completed at a cost of $85,539, compared to 40 building projects in November of 1965. No new homes or living units were included in the projects inspected last month.

There was one new commercial building, four commercial alterations and 24 residential alterations.

Building for the first 11 months of the year was also considerably below the total for the same period last year. A total of 488 projects were completed at a cost of $3,567,787, compared with 552 projects valued at $3,846,695 in 1965.
